

WE NOMINATE

Elizabeth Grant Cambrook Menzies, a lifelong Princetonian and for many, many years a "lonely voice crying in the wilderness of progress," who anticipated and documented the objectives of the conservers of Earth Day. This week, as Princeton and communities across the country suddenly seemed to "discover" that each stage of progress has almost invariably come at the expense of their environment," observers recalled Miss Menzies' eloquently expressed concerns and the publication last October, following some six years of work, of her "Millstone Valley," a beautiful, disturbing book telling the story "the way it was, the way it is, and what is happening to it."

While this 51-year-old photographer-author-editor would be the first to admit that she didn't stand alone in making fervent pleas for preservation of her beloved Millstone Valley—a microcosm of New Jersey and of America—she was among the first to crystallize some of the questions the Princeton Area is asking itself in the community-wide Environmental Teach-In. In "exploring" the lands of the Millstone, she frequently wondered: "We know in a vague way that nonbeauty is bad, squalor is undesirable, but do we ever notice the beauty of life and growing things around us? Here on the Millstone we should think about this, before the sun sets on our valley."

The daughter of a distinguished chemist, the late Edinburgh-born Alan W. C. Menzies, Miss Menzies writes most effectively with her camera, which she uses to drive home such contentions as "the Valley is still ours to keep with knowledge and foresight, or to ruin by no planning and bad planning." In her opinion, "We seem to have no overall outlook, no grasp of ecology, no ability to understand the functions of nature" . . . For example, "we must bear in mind that to fill in all of the swamps of the river and its tributaries in order to line the banks with houses and lawns would be mistake in many ways."

In noting that this area's population bulge of the 1950's and 1960's has pushed wild animals out of their homes in the valley (stretching from Zarephath and Weston in the north to Sweetman and Clarksburgh in the south), Miss Menzies, a student of architecture and often a critic of things man-made, is sometimes carried along by her own enthusiasm: "Most of the present-day developments that mar the landscape and pollute the Millstone are 'no-architecture.' The 'authentic Colonial' that I see advertised in this week's paper was built this year. For some reason, honest, beautiful, functional, contemporary architecture is almost absent in the Millstone Valley."

Before completing "The Valley," and selecting from 1,000's of negatives the 300 pictures used in the volume, Miss Menzies, whose photographs have been featured nationally and are included with some of her woodcuts in Princeton University's Graphic Arts Collection, collaborated with Mary Wenzell Gibbons (Mrs. Felton L.) and Constance Mann Griffith (Mrs. Robert) on the brilliant "Princeton Architecture: A Pictorial History of Town and Campus." Some years earlier her qualifications to write articles on such topics as the Delaware River and the Delaware Water Gap for the "Encyclopedia Americana" had been demonstrated by her "Before the Waters: The Upper Delaware Valley."

For bringing to her work "the intellect of a scholar, the heart of a concerned citizen, and the hand of an artist," for helping dramatic problems spawned by "violated flood plains and polluted streams," for feeling, in spite of everything, that both progress and environment may still be preserved; she is

NASSAU STREET "MALL"

Sunday Closing Picturesque. "Sunday afternoon was wonderful!" beamed Borough Mayor Robert W. Cavley. "and wouldn't it be nice if we could have a permanent mall like that where people could walk?"

Sunday from 12:30 to 5:30, Nassau Street was closed between Witherspoon Street and Chambers. You could walk across the street without looking, scared, to see if a truck might be bearing down from the right and a speeding sports car from the left. There was NOTHING but relaxed and happy people and a lot of music.

The idea came from undergraduates at Princeton University who convinced Borough Council and the mayor that it would be symbolic in close Nassau Street as part of the Environmental Teaching and "Earth Recovery Day." To show you see what the street would be like without the pollution of the internal combustion engine.

All internal combustion engines were routed down Witherspoon by Borough police.

Depending on your point of view, however, there was nothing but sound pollution. The thrumming, vibrating beat of several rock bands that alternated in performance before the steps of Nassau Hall.

The "Earth Recovery Festival" started at 1 p.m. when squads of undergraduates fanned out over the town to fill bags with litter from places as far away as Princeton High School.

By 2:30, when they gathered at the Princeton railroad station, they had assembled enough junk — chiefly beer cans — to make

THE NASSAU STREET SOUND: Sitting in the middle of Nassau Street at Palmer Square is an infrequent experience. Sitting there playing guitar and harmonica is a never-ending thing. But so it was on Sunday afternoon, as the crowds flowed and strolled and listened to an unaccompanied Nassau Street sound — music.

The whole day worthwhile. Borough trucks carted it away. Booths on Nassau Street — or rather, in Nassau Street — of eared petitions against pollution and in favor of Zero Population Growth.

You could examine the plato of low dung dedicated to Walker Gordon, whose breeze-bronze eads are at least wholesome and organic; peer at the little free festooned with orange-nice cartons and plastic spoons directed at the University's Food Services; and pore over shopping carts of wicked detergents and plastic bottles to see just where your family's own shopping list offended.

But best of all it was havoc, covering with horror a fish-kill in Harry's Brook.

The flood-plain acreage, in the extreme south of the Township, belongs to Harold G. Houghton and Joseph M. Castoro who once hoped — and maybe still do — to build 15-story luxury apartments there. The land is bounded by Alexander Street, the Delaware and Raritan Canal, and properties owned by Princeton University and the Princeton Water Company.

The ordinance introduced Monday night at Township Committee, is for $136,500, and includes legal fees and paper work as well as land cost. The Township hopes to get half from the state

Introducing "The Rising Generation"

In the years since World War II, the youth world has changed so tremendously that "the problems that once came up in college are in the high schools now — and the problems that confronted the high school student are now in the middle schools," according to a Princeton educator.

Facets of today's youth world will be discussed in TOWN TOPICS' new monthly series, "The Rising Generation," which begins this week (See page 11). The authors are Princetonians whose work with Princeton youth has much significance. Joining them, from time to time, will be some of the young people themselves.

"The Rising Generation" is directed to parents, endeavoring to give insight into the highly-pressured world of the 16-to-18-year-old, and offering words of advice. This week, George Petrillo, director of guidance at Princeton High School, gives his comments.

gentle fun. Undergraduates passed around free, live daffodils and flowers. There was an absolutely thrilling bicycle race and a pop-sick contest and a shift race. For the kids, this wasn't undergraduate horseplay. Down the Palmer Square hill scooted skate-board dare-devils, one on his stomach. There were some roller-skates, but not as many as Mayor Cavley had predicted.

and half from the Federal government. The state has already given an preliminary blessing, said Administrator Joseph R. Nix, pointing out that the land is part of the state's linear park concept for the Delaware and Raritan Canal.

Federal applications are being prepared. The Township expects state support when the Federal applications finally come up for review.

No land appraisals have been made by the Township. Cost is based on general estimates made by the state, and is regarded as a ceiling cost.

In an off-ag-on-ag-on-ag skirmish with the State Division of Water Policy, Houghton & Castoro finally received state approval to dump fill into the low-lying land. The Township promptly sent to the Appellate Division of Superior Court to stop the dumping of fill, and that's where the matter now sits. No fill, but no decision yet, either.

Public hearing on the ordinance will be held Monday, May 4.

Dead Fish. Fingerling trout and pike were dead-on-arrival at the Lake Carnegie mouth of Harry's Brook Saturday in some kind of ironic celebration of "Environment Week."

ing of the Joint Sewer Operating Committee last Friday, Mr. Nini reported, Sewer repair work has been stepped in nature. Mr. Nini reminded Committee and Mr. North, because everybody has been awaiting approval of the forthcoming regional sewer.

Princeton's own 40-year-old internal trunk system was described as a "broken-down 1930's P-WA sewer" by Mr. Sayer. It needs major overhaul, and the Sewer Operating Committee is pondering what to do.

This summer, sewer inspectors will again visit every house in the Township Mr. Nini said, to ferret out illegal connections, the downspouts that are not supposed to channel water into the sewers.

"What contribution is the Township making to pollution?" demanded Committee member James A. Floyd. He asked for a report from Health Officer Marcella Farley and Acting Engineer Joseph Holak.

Conceding that sewers were indeed built along low-lands, Mr. Holak pointed out that it would be very expensive to acquire new rights-of-way an higher land — "maybe twice as costly," he estimated.

10 Tons of Beer Cans. Actually Mr. Sayer had come to Committee to report the doings of the Open Space Commission. He said that the Commission and the Boy Scouts had marked Earth Recovery Day on Sunday by a beer-can hunt.

Four boys filled a 10-ton dump truck with beer cans in four hours, he told Committee. The truck followed streets in the Snowden-Herrontown area.

"Beer-drinkers just aim their those cans right into the shrubs," Mr. Sayer said.

Road to Close Soon. In other unpolished business, Committee introduced these ordinances:

• Vacating Valley Road between Route 206 and Witherspoon Street. The state won't install a traffic light at Terabase and 206 unless the Township closes off Valley at Township Hall. Public hearing May 18.

• Prohibiting L-shaped lots. Public hearing May 18.

• Spelling out off-site improvements required of developers. If there aren't any access ways to sewers or streets, the Planning Board can make the developer build them. In less essential matters, such as drainage, Township Committee could be asked to ordnance the improvement. Assessments according to benefits. Public hearing May 18.

• Repealing the tax agreement part of the zoning ordinance. This required payment in the Township, chiefly by the University, for water and sewer costs in excess of taxation, were produced by multi-family dwellings in the education zone. For two or three years, there were indeed additional costs. But since 1967, the University has been piling up credits and asked to have the ordinance repealed. The University says it's willing to renegotiate whenever necessary. Public hearing May 1.

Piqued by a stern resolution from Princeton last month declaring the cancellation of the 7-30 Penn Central train, James Dieffenderfer, a Penn Central spokesman now almost as familiar to Princetonians as their mayors, wrote to Committee saying that other rail lines in New Jersey get a lot more money from the state than Penn Central did, and would Committee help in obtaining for Penn Central a more equitable treatment in Trenton?

Besides, said Mr. Dieffenderfer, commuter fares were "substandard." And at last report, the state-subsidized 7-40 will probably not be cancelled anyway.

Without protest from anyone, Committee raised all liquor licenses except club licenses, 20%.

"BIKE-IN" HELD

By Great Road Students. Students of Stuart Country Day School and Princeton Day School rode their bicycles to school Wednesday morning to draw attention to the need for a bike path along The Great Road.

The Bike-In was endorsed by the Princeton Open Space Commission, Borough and Township police were on duty as a safety measure.

Cyclists left Kingston at 7 a.m., heading across the old bridge and along Lake Carnegie, gathering numbers as they went. The bike route went on to Prospect Street, Washington Road, Vandewater, Wiggins, Avalon Place, Hodge Road, and then by Lafayette Road and Hunter to Westcott Road.

At 7:45 a.m. approximately the students joined riders and walkers coming in from Elm Road and Mountain Avenue and started the long, up-hill road to their schools.

Organizer of the Bike-In was Karen Blair, an 8th grade student at Stuart, Assisting her were Martina Cord and Elliott Corbiers. Arrangements at PDS were made through Cameron Ferrante, a member of the Student Council.

Princeton Day School parents circulated a petition several years ago asking for a bike path on the Great Road. The path was omitted in the recent widening of the road.

CONTEST AHEAD

In Township Primaries, There will be a contest in the Township in the June 2 primaries for the first time in anybody's memory.

It will be in the Republican party between newcomer Charles E. Meyer, 90 Dodds Lane, and a Republican veteran, Dr. William Cherry, 24 Dempsey Avenue.

Only one seat is up for election this year on Township Committee. The man who holds it, Republican William L. Wilson, has said that he still hasn't decided whether to run. The primary filing deadline is this Thursday at 4 p.m.

Observers in the Township are betting heavily that Mr. Wilson's "maybe" really means "no" and that he will not file Thursday. He has served three three-year terms and was Township mayor during 1964.

Township Democrats, at present, still hadn't announced a candidate. They were said to be considering Peter Putnam, 48 Roper Road.

And Borough? Meanwhile in the Borough, the Democrats are all set, but the Republicans still have one candidate to go. Two candidates are needed for the seats to be vacated by Alan Carrick and Fred Peterson.

The lone Republican candidate is Charles L. Taggart, 57 Cleveland Lane, assistant dean of the Graduate School at Princeton University.

Democratic candidates are Joseph P. Moore, 14 Bank Street, assistant dean of students at Princeton University, and Martin P. Lombardo, national director of youth activities for the Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Mr. Lombardo ran last year and was defeated — so a recount said — by Charles Conforth. Mr. Lombardo went to court with the verdict, but he may decide to drop the suit within the next week, according to Nicholas J. Bartolino, president of the Princeton Democratic Association.

The case is on the court docket for late May. Mr. Bartolino reports, and although Mr. Lombardo doesn't have to decide until then, he may make his decision shortly, with the advice of a local and county Democratic organizations.

In the Township's contest, Republican spokesmen say it has not yet been decided what design the ballot. However, Dr. Cherry refers to himself as "the maverick," so the assumption is that Mr. Meyer will be the regular organization Republican candidate.

Dr. Cherry, a physicist at RCA, is Republican Committeeman for District Four in the Township. He is chairman of the citizens' committee for the new Autumn Hill Reservation and has been an outspoken member of the audience at many Township Committee meetings.

Mr. Meyer is vice-president of sales for Ethicon, Inc., an affiliate of Johnson & Johnson, and a member of the board of directors. He has been active for several years in the Midgut Football League of Princeton, coaching the University Store team.

Dr. Cherry said in a statement this week that he's entering the primaries because he believes people, rather than the party organization, should choose the candidates.

"I am entering the contest to restore this vital process of choice," he stated. "I am gravely concerned that in living memory, no such choice has been made available in Princeton Township."

Dr. Cherry says he isn't certain he'll get a free primary — that is, one in which the regular organization would have both candidates in its column. This decision can be deferred until a week or ten days after the April 23 primary.

NO PRINCIPAL YET

Four in Finals. Choice of a principal for Princeton High has narrowed to four candidates, one of whom is that non-candidate Miss Florence Burke, acting principal of the high school.

"I am not a candidate," Miss Burke has said repeatedly, and indeed she has never filed a formal application but the Princeton Regional Board of Education has always had her under consideration and she is one of the four finalists.

John Marks, president of the board, said at a press conference this week that the board probably won't have chosen a principal by the regular meeting next Tuesday at 8 in Community Park School.

It is difficult to get all nine members of the board together. Dr. Marks explained, and everyone feels that the whole board should participate in the final vote on who is to be principal.

Involved in the choice is more than selection of a person. Dr. Marks observed, "A search for the identity of the high school is also involved — that goes without saying."

He added, "The problems of Princeton High are the problems of Princeton," and he cited the wide diversity of student body as well as community, and the lack of any consensus on philosophies of education.

Another board member, Winthrop Pike, said that the board has been asking questions of candidates like "What should the program be for students whose terminal experience will be 12th-grade?"

He said that candidates have told the board that this has the same problems they've seen in their own high schools: race, drugs, "you name it." At Tuesday night's meeting, the audience will be invited to cross the ball to the Community Park gym and see an exhibit demonstration of TV, films and so on — what used to be called

Browning Book Up for Bids

Among the thousands of books on sale at the Bryn Mawr Book Sale, most of which will sell for under a dollar, is a presentation copy of "Sordello," a lengthy poem by Robert Browning, appraised at $100.

The leather-bound volume, signed by the author, was uncovered this week by workers sorting the books for the four-day sale. It is not known who donated it.

The club will accept sealed bids on new Thursday on the volume. These may be handed in at the cashier's table.

HOUSING REPORT

State Favors PCH: Princeton's middle-income housing proposals have been welcomed by the state's new head of the Department of Community Affairs, Edmund Hume.

"We were delighted that he was as enthusiastic as he was," commented Township Mayor John D. Wallace, following a meeting on Monday with Commissioner Hume.

"He gave us a cordial reception and responded helpfully," was the observation of Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley.

Both mayors quoted Commissioner Hume as saying that Governor William T. Cahill is backing him and even pressuring him in his support of Princeton Community Housing in Princeton.

PCH will appear on Monday, May 4 before Township Committee with "definitive proposals for low-and-middle-income housing." Mayor Wallace told Township Committee Monday night. The Township project may well get under way before the Borough's.

"Technical problems" with the Borough's project still remain, Mayor Cawley observed, although he told the press Tuesday that he expects the second and final installment of PCH's Borough seed money from the state "in a month or six weeks." The technical problems in the Borough have been chiefly concerned with architects' contracts.

Monday's meeting with Commissioner Hume included, besides the two mayors: Theodore Vial, president of PCH; Leslie Vivian and H. Philip Minis of PCH and Allen Gershon, of PCH professional consultant With Commissioner Hume was Thomas Seessel, executive director of the Housing Finance Agency.

Township Committee approved the application of the Borough's Housing Authority—agent for the Township in low-income public housing—to Federal officials for low-cost housing in the Township for elderly tenants.

Housing Authority officials explained that, of 99 present applications for low-income housing, 54 are from elderly persons. The Authority's executive director, Mrs. Steve Slaby, said led in the letter requesting approval of the application, that the Authority expects to construct 50 units of low-rent housing in Princeton Township in cooperation with PCH.

TEENAGER IS CHARGED

With Heroin Possession. A 19-year-old Princeton Junction youth has been charged with possession of heroin by Borough police.

Armed with a search warrant, Detective Robert McAvonia and P.I. Timothy Huizinga arrested Russell M. Moore of 9 Windsor Drive Thursday afternoon on Nassau Street between Palmer Square and Witherspoon Street. Michael Carnevale reported that "a sizeable amount" of heroin was found in his possession.

Moore was released after paying $5,000 bail set by Judge Theodore T. Toms. A preliminary hearing in Borough Court has been set for May 6.

Arrest Two in Township Two Princeton area young men were arrested early last week by Township police.

Charged with possession of narcotics and possession of hypodermic needles were John Provenzano, 23, 2663 Main Street, Lawrenceville, and Joseph D. Hagan, 20 Devonshire Drive, Princeton. They have been released in $200 bail each to await a May 6 court hearing.

Their car was observed parked on secluded Wendor Drive off Brookstone by Sgt. Jack Petrone and P.I. Howard Svedberg while on car patrol. The officers reported noticing a hypodermic syringe lying outside the car with a liquid in it and allegedly finding a needle in Provenzano's possession.

JOB FOR YOUTH

Plans Are Laid. "If we don't give a kid something besides money, the whole thing is worthless."

That was one observation that emerged last Wednesday from a summer job conference held by the Princeton Job Committee under the umbrella of the National Alliance of Businesses, Mercer County division.

This will be the third summer that Princeton's Job Committee—it started in 1963 as the "Job Plan"—has set about hiring kids for productive summer jobs.

The job conference was attended by representatives from such local firms as RCA, Western Electric, McGraw Hill, Arnold Constable and from Princeton Township, where youngsters are hired for summer work.

In addition, guidance counselors from high schools in Princeton, Hightstown and Trenton attended, plus volunteers who serve as members of the Princeton Job Committee.

The conference was organized by Mrs. Michael Erdman, one of the founders of the Job Plan of '68, and is now Youth Director for Mercer County of the National Alliance of Businesses, an organization based in Washington.

The 1970 program is geared to young people in the 16-21 age bracket who are presently in school. Drop-outs will be channelled elsewhere.

The young men and women in the program are supposed to be

Will bring a better World to birth.

Seeds, of course, need sunlight so it may be a while before you get results. There's been precious little sunshine this spring, and like the first three months of 1970, April has provided much subnormal temperature.

Wednesday's sunshine (first, since the weekend will last into Thursday, if more rain is on the way. The man thinks that should be some before Friday is over, and expresses hope for a pleasant weekend just like the rest of us.

"disadvantaged"—either poor, from a minority group, from a so-called "target area" or "ghetto"—in some way by definition of guidance counselors or an agency of some kind.

Robert W. Cawley of Western Electric, told the gathering that the summer job program had three general objectives: (1) to provide a kid with money, which he can use to further his education if he wishes; (2) to give him practical experience in working, being on time, doing things that are expected of him, and so on. At Western Electric, Mr. Cawley said, young workers are sometimes given a token raise half way through the summer if they're meeting requirements successfully and (3), raising career objectives, showing them it's not so difficult to pick up a skill.

Marvin Trotman, of the Princeton High School guidance department, told the seminar that guidance counselors will use background information on the young job-seekers so that employers will know what to expect of a particular employee. Mr. Trotman said PHS already has 70 applications on file from young people. Counselors will also be available through the summer in case problems arise on-the-job.

Counselors and prospective employers at the conference agreed that one aspect of the summer job program is vitally important: employers must make it very clear, to counselors, to the Job Committee and to the young employee, exactly what his job is and what work is expected of him.

Counselors also stated that "industry may have to go along with us." A young man may have been on drugs. A girl may have been in "Special Education," classified as "mentally retarded" when actually she is quite normal in intelligence.

"We aren't going to be sending you kids into a job—looking for them," one counselor warned.

Through liaison channels, counselors hope to keep employers and supervisors informed about problems a kid may be having in home, school or community. Drop-outs will be on the job. Counselors also may decide to visit a youngster in his home or meet him somewhere outside both job and home so he can unburden himself of problems that may be affecting his work.

Employer representatives said they would try to find jobs in which a kid can succeed.

It's important for a young man or woman to get the feeling of succeeding in something, especially in a world that's so wholly different from any experience he's had before.

That comment came not from a counselor or a Job Committee member but from a prospective employer. And a colleague added.

"If we don't give a kid something besides money, the whole thing is worthless."

I remember him as if it were yesterday, as he came plodding to the inn door, his sea chest following behind him in a hand-barrow; a tall, strong, heavy, nut-brown man; his tarry pig-tail falling over the shoulders of his soiled blue coat; his hands ragged and scarred, with black, broken nails; and the sabre cut across one cheek, a dirty, livid white. I remember him looking around the cave and whistling to himself as he did so, and then breaking out in that old season that he sang so often afterwards:—"Fifteen men on the Dead Man's Chest—Yo-ho-ho, and a bottle of rum!"

The proprietor, Joel Lewis, told police that he had driven by the store at 11 and the door was secure. When he went past two hours later, he said, he saw the front door was wide open.

Police said that a pane of glass in the front door had been broken to gain entry. Ptl. Joseph Wdheim investigated.

$150 From Vending Machine. About $150 was taken between midnight and 5:15 Thursday morning from a cigarette vending machine in the Nassau Inn. Police said that the machine was located between the Tap Room and an outside cloak room. The front cover of the machine had been pried off, they said.

A four by 11-foot canvas sun strip was stolen last week from in front of the Loft Candy Store in the Princeton Shopping Center.

The strip was last seen at 6 Friday evening, according to store manager John Archer. No value was placed on the strip.

BUTLER FINED $35

In IDA Assault Case, Ronald P. Butler, 21, Princeton University senior charged with assaulting an officer of the Institute for Defense Analyses during a demonstration last November, has been fined $35.

Judge Theodore P. Tams Jr. assessed the fine last week before a cheering overflow audience of students who jammed the Borough court chambers. Butler had pleaded not guilty.

He was arrested by Borough Police after he allegedly assaulted John Harrell as the latter tried to enter the IDA building. Mr. Harrell is chief of computer operations for IDA.

In another case, Kenneth Busch, 18, 720 Moran Avenue, was fined $75 for assaulting three students at Princeton High School. He was also fined $25 for trespassing at the high school.

Jon Huse, 18, of Ridgely, and Lawrence J. Rider, 18, of Hopewell, were each fined $25 as minors in possession of alcohol. Both pleaded guilty. Alexander Rodrigues, 22, 190 John Street, received a 60-day suspended sentence to the Mercer County Workhouse for possession of stolen property allegedly taken from cars parked near the railway station on University Place. Judge Tams also placed him on one year's probation.

CHEMIST IS ARRESTED

In Drug Raid, Max F. Zullig, 38, of 477 Cherry Hill Road, was arrested at his home last week by federal agents and State Police narcotics detectives and charged with possession of a hallucinogen-type drug. Police seized between eight to 10 pounds of the drug, phencyclidine, which was allegedly made in the Zullig home. Mr. Zullig is a chemist for S. F. Drugg & Co.

According to a state police drug expert, little is known of the drug, called PCP. It is comparatively new, he said, and only a small amount of it has been sold in the East.

Mr. Zullig is scheduled to face a hearing in Newark before a U.S. commissioner.

EMPLOYEE CAUGHT

In Attempted Theft, An employee of Hardware Corp., a Princeton Shopping Center hardware store, was arrested last week by Township police after he and two juveniles entered the store with a key.

Arrested around midnight inside the store was Arthur L. Wright, 18, of Duke's Apartment, Route 27. He was charged with breaking and entering and attempt to commit larceny by Ptl. David Cronin and later released in $100 bail to await a hearing in court set for May 6.

Two juveniles, ages 16 and 17, from Princeton Township and South Brunswick Township, were turned over to Mercer County authorities. Police said they were apprehended inside the store with Wright and the second was found outside, waiting in a car.

Police were tipped off by a police officer who noticed the store was completely dark and became suspicious. Usually, a light is left on inside all night, police said.

NINE ARE FINED

In Township Court, Nine Princeton area residents were fined last week in Township court by Judge Burton Peskin. Edward S. Flanick, 61 Jefferson Road, and Florence L. Lee, 28, 27 Hawthorne Avenue, were fined $20 and $15 for passing stopped school buses. Warren C. Johnson, 24, 284 Witherspoon Street, paid two fines: $15 for an unlicensed driver and $10 for an unregistered car. Clarence W. Potter, 68, Servis Road, Skillman, and Joseph Magget, 22, 183 Edgerstone Road, were also fined $15 and $10 respectively as unlicensed drivers.

Stop sign violations cost J. A. Stolt, 60, 47 Laurel Avenue, Kingston, $25, and Peter Flumener, 51, Church Street, Kingston, $15. William E. Willinger, 25, 86 Spruce Street, paid $30 for failing to keep right, and Jean C. Bailey, 48, 220 Cherry Brook Drive, paid $15 for failing to yield at an intersection.

In Borough Court, In Borough court Monday, Judge Theodore P. Tams Jr. fined Margery C. Wintringer, 81, 43 Southern Way, $15 for careless driving.

BLACK WOMEN GAIN

In University Admissions, Princeton University mailed out letters of acceptance to 1,570 high school seniors over the weekend, including 227 women and 167 black students. Both figures are significant increases over last year.

The University expects to draw its Class of 1974 of about 810 men and 175 women from those accepted. Some 3,882 completed applications for admission, a 37 percent increase over last year.

The number of men expected

Won't You
Come Home,
Bill Bailey
Won't You
Come Home?

For gosh sake. Is that you Bill Bailey? How nice to see you. I'll bet it's been, what 14 years now? I lost track of you right after that rainy evening when your wife turned you out.

So where have you been, Bill? Tahiti! No kidding, you did. You see of a gun? Just set on the beach with a little wahlut scratching your back all day. You got converted to a new religion? Now you do what? Just sit all day and contemplate your navel. You know, Bill, maybe your wife knew what she was doing when she threw you out. It's easy to see why a guy like you would need to take home some flowers, alright. Especially after 14 years.

I've got an idea, Bill. How about taking home a $1.00 special for each year you've been away. You know, symbolism. No, I'm not trying to load you up, but on the other hand how do I know it won't be another 14 years before you'll need to buy flowers again?

Here's the rundown, Bill, and say, Lotsa luck.

12 carnations	$1.00
12 gladioli	1.00
12 tulips	1.00
12 daisies	1.00
1 bunch of pomposes	1.00

to enter Princeton next fall is unchanged from last year. The figure of 175 women expected to enter compares with the 102 who entered last fall, and is also above this year's original target of 160. Next fall's entrants will comprise the second step in the University's five-year plan to enroll 650 undergraduate women by 1973-74.

Reviewing the activities of his office this year, John T. Osander, Director of Admission, singled out these items as significant: the biggest recorded increase in application numbers in Princeton's history; a "dramatic increase" in the overall quality of the applicants; a serious difficulty in paring the list of "uniformly excellent" female applicants down to size; and a doubling in the number of black applicants received over last year.

More than 600 applications were received from black students, compared with 300 a year ago, and 143 two years ago. Of these 167 — 136 men and 31 women — were accepted. Last year 111 men and 10 women were admitted; two years ago, 76 men.

With regard to black acceptance Mr. Osander pointed out: "For the first time in our history, the black-white composition of an incoming Princeton class could approximate that of

Legion to Parade the Night Before

For the first time in the town's history, Princeton's annual Memorial Day parade will be held at 7 p.m. on May 29, according to Commander Frank Tylus of American Legion Post 76. Also for the first time in many years, the Princeton High School band will not take part.

"It has been difficult to make arrangements with bands this year," Mr. Tylus said Tuesday. "There seems to be an increased interest everywhere in conducting Memorial Day parades. We also couldn't get a military band."

"But we will have a parade that Princeton will be proud of, with four fine bands — over 150 musicians. As for the high school band, it's soon night at the school. The parade will follow the same route as always, winding up at the War Memorial by Borough Hall, where there'll be a ceremony."

There is, however, little likelihood that the parade will become a tradition on the evening of May 29. Beginning in 1971, Memorial Day will be anchored on a Monday, and a Sunday evening observation of the holiday is unlikely to be planned.

The Post 76 color guard will march in the Hopewell parade on Memorial Day.

American society as a whole."

Among other sub-groups of Princeton acceptances, and among these comparisons: a small decline in the number of sons and daughters of alumni increased from 290 last year to 187 this year; essentially no change in the number admitted who will need aid in the form of scholarship, loan and/or employment, from 560 last year to 550 this year.

About the Admission office's difficulty in choosing among top female applicants, Mr. Osander said: "Princeton reached, in this women's competition a point we may reach soon in overall competition; the point at which any process of selection and rejection can only be unfair to the applicants."

After going through our standard selection procedures, we found ourselves with 364 young women whose qualifications were so uniformly excellent that we had no firm basis on which to reject any; there simply are no good standards by which to evaluate at so high a level. Yet the Admission office was limited to accepting only 227."

Those 137 eliminated in the final week of selection, as well as their guidance counselors, will receive a special letter explaining Princeton's action. Mr. Osander said. Also each of these women, plus about 60 others, will be placed on a special waiting list while the University reviews its ability to accommodate at least a few more than the present goal of 175 women.

"Princeton application numbers have increased by 5,000 in the last 11 years," Mr. Osander pointed out. "The first half of that increase occurred over a 10-year period from 1959 to 1969; the second half occurred in this past year alone."

FLOOR PLANS APPROVED
For New W. Windsor School. Preliminary floor plans for a proposed seventh through 12th grade secondary school were unanimously approved by the West Windsor-Plainsboro Regional Board of Education last Thursday night at the Maurice Hawk School.

Following state approval of the plans, a date for the public bond issue referendum for financing the structure will be set, Robert Duncan, board president, said. The earliest possible date for such a referendum now appears to be in late June.

Approximately 40 people heard Mr. Duncan review the planning steps and public progress report which preceded Thursday's meeting, and summarize the proposed schedule, pending voter approval, for the opening of the school in 1972.

The School Superintendent, Dr. John Hadden, reviewed two sets of plans, indicating the modifications which had been made since the "Progress Report Meeting" held on April 15th. "The flexibility of the planned space," he said, "provide the opportunity for the development of classrooms appropriate in size for the actual number of students in each class."

The spaces can be arranged to provide classrooms for groups of from 10 to 50 or more students. The difference between the two plans is in how they provide the four physical education teaching stations required for the projected student enroll### ment of 1350.

Plan A includes a divisible main gymnasium, an auxiliary gym, and a swimming pool for these four stations. Plan B calls for four gymnasium teaching stations and does not include a swimming pool. The remaining cost of plan A is $6.72 million, that of plan B is $6.72 million.

Board member Robert Prigge reviewed the plans for the development of the site showing the location of the building, parking lots, and athletic fields. He noted that the plans call for a relatively compact building permitting less use of space for corridors. This also allows greater availability of space for educational purposes in a structural wall.

The final plans and costs will not be available until after approval by the State Department of Education. Following such approval additional public meetings will be held to discuss the specifics of both the plans and costs.

CAN THE WORM TURN?

The Commuter, That Is, Asking "How will the Princeton travel to Manhattan, Martha's Vineyard and Moscow in the 1990's?" or "Can the Commuter-Worm Turn?" two organizations active in Princeton are sponsoring a public meeting on transportation problems Tuesday night at 8.

It will take place in Woodrow Wilson Hall on Washington Road, under the guidance of the Princeton Section of the American Institute of Aeronautics and the National Association of Railroad Passengers. They warn that "transportation prospects for Princeton can do nothing but get worse unless massive public support is provided for better trains, STOL aircraft and airport access systems."

Those to be heard include John Kohl, Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Transportation; James Didenkofer, Assistant Vice-President, Special Services, for the Penn Central Railroad; James Hadden, chairman of Princeton's 100 Commuters Committee; Richard Wilkin, Transportation Editor of The New York Times; and Scott Crossfield, Vice-President of

THOMPSON TO RUN AGAIN

Seeks Ninth Term in House, Representative Frank Thompson Jr. has announced he will seek re-election to Congress from New Jersey's Fourth District, composed of Mercer, Hunterdon, Sussex and Warren counties. The Trenton Democrat has served eight terms in the House since his first election in 1964.

Mr. Thompson pledged renewed legislative efforts in such fields as environmental problems, particularly in air and water pollution, improved educational opportunities from preschool to higher education levels, additional consumer protection measures, more effective law enforcement, including drug abuse control, and more adequate Social Security, health and job training programs.

In his past years in the House, Mr. Thompson was a co-sponsor of the landmark Elementary and Secondary Education Act and the High Education Facilities Act. He authored the VISTA Program, the legislation which created the Foundation for the Arts and Humanities and which authorized the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. In the House, he is the third ranking member of both the Education and Labor Committee and the Committee on House Administration. He is chairman of the Special Subcommittee on Labor and of the Subcommittee on Library and Memorials. He was recently named to a special committee of House Democrats to study and recommend changes in the seniority system and other House procedures.

Rep. Frank Thompson

In his last race for re-election in 1968 Mr. Thompson defeated Republican Sydney S. Souter.

AFS STUDENT ARRIVES

To Visit, Attend School. The recent arrival of Miss Jasmina Teodosijevic of Belgrade, Yugoslavia has been announced by the Princeton chapter of American Field Service. Miss Teodosijevic is staying with the Raymond W. Cobb family, 2 Campbell Circle, for the remainder of the school year.

She will be attending Princeton High School and auditing three courses at Princeton University. She is interested in writing and dramatics, and plans to enter the University of Belgrade when she returns home in the fall. She has a particular interest in poetry, having published many poems, and expects to major in literature.

The American Field Service, which is sponsoring Jasmina, is a privately sponsored, non-profit, non-sectarian organization for the promotion of understanding among peoples of different lands. Its International Scholarship program gives students 16 to 26 placement in selected homes and schools of different countries. This personal and educational involvement may last for a school year or for a shorter summer visit.

Approximately 3,000 such scholarships are awarded annually, and since the inception of the program in 1947, 31,000 students from abroad have visited the United States, while 14,000 students from this country have had a chance to live elsewhere.

The American Field Service maintains 40 overseas offices, and has 2,800 local volunteer chapters with 30,000 members in this country.

DELEGATES CHOSEN

By Community Democrats. Meeting in open convention, the Princeton Community Democratic Organization last week selected three delegates to the Executive Committee of the Democratic Party of Mercer County. Elected were Township Committeemen James Fiedler and Thomas Hartmann and Mrs. Elaine Schuman, Township Vice President of the PCDO.

The three will serve one-year terms of the newly-constituted executive committee, which will be the major policy and coordinate selection arm of the Democratic Party in Mercer County.

Following a lengthy and heated debate, the PCDO rejected by a vote of 18 to 15, a proposal to select six delegates—three each from the Borough and Township. Richard Bergman, sponsor of the defeated resolution, argued that the PCDO had as legitimate a claim to represent the Borough as did any other organization.

"The difference between the two Democratic organizations in Princeton," Mr. Bergman said, "is not that one is Borough and the other Township—we have as many Borough members as the Princeton Democratic Association has. The difference is one of philosophy and of commitment. It is time to end the fiction that we are exclusively a Township organization."

Opponents questioned the practical effects of selecting Borough delegates.

"Whatever the reality," said one, "the hard truth is that most county leaders consider the PCDO the Township group and Princeton Democratic Association the spokesman for the Borough. Any Borough delegates we select will simply not be seated."

The Princeton Democratic Organization split off from the Princeton Democratic Association in 1965. Approximately 25% — Continued on Next Page of the PCDO's 200 paid members, including club President Ed Schneider, reside in the Borough.

Mr. Schneider stated that the PCDO was "emphatically not just a Township organization. We have not been doing our job in the Borough," he said, "as the voter turnout figures clearly show. With nearly equal populations, there were 1000 more voters in the Township last year than in the Borough. If the PDA can't bring new people into the party and get them to the polls, then we must play a more active role in borough politics."

Mr. Schneider, who is on the county organization's candidate screening committee and the restructuring committee that established the County Executive Board, charged that in Princeton Borough, delegates to the new executive committee will be "hand-picked by the so-called party leaders. What we have done here is to let the people decide," he said.

ON ZONERS' AGENDA

Two Home Conversions. Two of the four cases scheduled to be heard by the Borough Zoning Board Thursday evening in Borough Hall involve requests to convert single family homes in to joint occupancy.

Eva H. Short wants to convert a home she owns at 16 Moore Street into an apartment and psychiatrist's office. Winifred E. Longstreet and Elizabeth P. Gray, owners of a single family dwelling at 62 William Street, want to convert it into a two-family dwelling.

Both houses are located in a residential office zone. The house on William Street is a large one on a large lot, while the Short home on Moore is a small house on a small lot.

Bellefonte, Inc., owner of Bellows, 210 Nassau Street, will request a variance to extend the front of the building to accommodate proposed new display windows and a new cantilevered roof.

The building allegedly already extends some seven or eight feet into the right of way of Nassau Street (Route 27) claimed by the state highway department. The proposed new roof would project about three feet beyond the present roof line; the new windows would come out about a foot farther.

An extension of six months of a variance granted May 22, 1969, by the board will be sought by Mackenzie Realty.

At that time, the board granted approval to Mackenzie to build a house on the rear of a lot it owns at 36 Pine Street, provided it renovate a vacant home located in the front of the lot.

Sewer Work Begins

Work has begun in the replacement of an existing 620-foot section of sewer line along Cleveland Lane, that stretches from Lafayette Road to Elm.

It is planned to keep Cleveland Lane open to traffic during the estimated 10 days needed to complete the job, but the Borough Engineer's office reported that it will have to close the road if traffic becomes "exceptionally heavy."

After the new line is in, the poek-marked lower section of Cleveland will be resurfaced.

SERIAL NUMBERS TRACED
Stolen Property Returned. The value of recording serial numbers in the event of theft was illustrated last week when a tape recorder, stolen possibly as long ago as May, 1967, from Valley Road School, was recovered and traced back here through its serial number.

The recorder, valued at $160, a $50 16mm projector and a typewriter were listed as articles missing from the school between May 12, 1967, and June 2, 1969. There were no signs of forced entry during the span. Because they were available, the serial numbers of the recorder and projector were put into the National Crime Information Center computer.

On April 3, the NCIC notified Township police that the Maryland State Police in Cecil County had entered the serial number of the recorder into the computer as part of a list of stolen property they had uncovered. Four days later, Chief James B.

Campbell Jr. and Detective Norman Servis went to the Maryland State Police Barracks where the recorder was recovered. It will be returned to Valley Road School.

The sad part, said Detective Servis, is that they saw thousands of dollars worth of stolen property at Maryland, most of which will never be returned because it cannot be identified.

RIGHTS GROUP MEETS

With Real Estate Brokers. A number of Princeton real estate brokers and their salesmen, representing the Princeton Real Estate Group, met informally last week with members of the Joint Civil Rights Commission and Mayors Wallace and Cawley to discuss discrimination and housing, as they relate to the real estate business and housing in the Princeton area.

Representatives of the Real Estate Group made several points. It was noted that all brokers and sales personnel are licensed by the New Jersey Real Estate Commission and regulated by its rules. Discrimination of any kind on the part of a salesman or broker is strictly prohibited. The commission will promptly investigate any complaint.

In accordance with New Jersey law, all brokers are to post a non-discrimination sign in their offices. An excerpt of the law against discrimination is given to every listing owner, and the broker or salesman must refuse the listing if the owner indicates he may violate this law.

Through its president, Lawrence Norris Kerr, the Princeton Real Estate Group pledged its co-operation with the Civil Rights Commission. To this end, looks beautiful because Volkswagen doesn't build it.

Ask Volkswagen to build a small economy car. Fine.

Ask Volkswagen to build a big practical station wagon. Very good.

But ask Volkswagen to build a beautiful sports car?

Well, not even Volkswagen would ask Volkswagen to do that.

So we asked the Ghia Studios of Turin, Italy to design the body of our sports car, and the Karmann Coachworks of Osnabrück, Germany to build it.

The Karmann people attack our sports car the way they've been attacking things for the past hundred years: slowly and carefully.

The fenders are welded and shaped and sanded and burnished by hand.

And once the body is formed, they give the Karmann Ghia four coats of paint, including a rust-proofing zinc undercoat and a hand sprayed enamel color coat.

If it all sounds very complicated, it is.

But we can't afford to take any chances: When we tried to build a sedan, it ended up looking like a beetle.

We didn't want to make the same mistake twice.

 Mrs. Kerr asked the Public Affairs Committee of the Groom to meet with the Civil Rights Commission as a liaison between the Commission and the Real Estate Group. At the request of the Commission, any alleged discriminatory act which involves a member of the Group can be discussed with this Committee.

The Committee will also explore ways to inform the public that services of real estate brokers and salesmen are available to anyone who wishes to consult them.

It was agreed that there is a definite shortage of housing for low- and moderate-income families in the Princeton area. Several of the real estate participants pointed out that restrictive zoning prevented any real increase in the supply of housing, and therefore, prices continue to rise without an appreciable increase in the supply of housing. The Mayors asked that the Real Estate Group be active participants in any future discussions of zoning and housing in both municipalities.

"Up the Organization!" — Read It Yet?

A lot of Princeton readers have, in fact, the how-to-succeed-in-business-by-thriving-on-all-overboard book by the ex-president of Avis, is on the best-seller lists of three of Princeton's book outlets. Here's the April tally:

NON-FICTION
"Up the Organization" Robert Townsend (Princeton Book Mart, University Store, Male's Book Shop).
"Mary Queen of Scots," Antonia Fraser. Is it the glamorous author or the dramatic subject that makes this a consistent best-seller? The library has 30 reserves on it. (Public Library)

FICTION
"Love Story," Erich Segar. A brief novel in a college setting, which seems to appeal to teens. (Public Library)
"Deliverance," James Dickey (Princeton Book Mart)
"Local Anesthetic," Gunter Grass. He gets more popular all the time. (University Store)
"The French Lieutenant's Woman," John Fowles. She's been around since autumn. (Male's Book Shop)

... RECOMMENDED
"Here Today: San Francisco's Architectural Heritage." The Junior League of San Francisco. Splendid book of photographs. (Public Library)
"Looking for Dillman." Geoffrey Bibby. Archaeology. (Princeton Book Mart)
"Losing Battles," Endora Welty. We've waited 15 years for her to write this book. (University Store)
"Dinosaur of the OSS," Corey Ford. Real-life cloak and dagger. (Male's Book Shop).

EARNING INDEPENDENCE

by George Petrillo, Director
Princeton High School Guidance Department

In my 17 years of teaching and counseling, I have learned, over and over again, that youth wants a sense of direction from their parents as well as from other adults. They want to be told what limits exist for them. They prefer to know how parents feel about certain things. In fact, students have told me, privately, that they have asked certain favors of their parents that they secretly hoped would be denied. They indicated to me a great sense of relief when their parents simply said, "No, you can't do that."

Parents need not be fearful of losing the love of their children by being somewhat restrictive. If parents would only understand that the love the children have for them is quite a fundamental thing; it is almost impossible to eradicate, even if one wishes to do so. There is no desire on the part of youth, in spite of the outword symptoms, to deny this love or to get away from it completely.

Often the students are pressured by their peers to join in activities which they really do not like, and it is a great relief when their parents get them "off the hook" by not allowing the youngster to participate. Is it not a relief for all of us, even as adults, to know what the limits are?

Self-esteem is important to every person — it is especially important to a young person searching for his place in the world. Young adults tend to be unsure about themselves and certainly less secure about their future lives than most of us realize. I think, as adults, we only complicate the matter by putting them completely on their own.

Teenagers, in counseling sessions, tell me over and over again that they don't expect their parents to react to them as their peer group would. They not only need, but also want, their parents to fulfill the role of parent. Students tell me that the parent's role is primarily supportive. Yes, they want freedom; they want to make decisions of their own, and they want to participate actively, but they also seek guidance. They want guidelines because that means someone loves them and cares enough about them not only to set some standards but also to enforce those standards.

Parents frequently ask what reasonable standards they should set up. This is a judgment parents must make depending on the maturity level of their child. This is the great period of growth — dependence to independence. As a result, one of the most difficult assignments for the parent is to let his child become just as independent as age and development warrant.

One of the most difficult lessons that a teenager must learn is that he must earn independence — by learning to handle himself at each increasingly-complicated stage of development. With the independence and freedom that we think so many of our youngsters are seeking, must come the responsibility on the part of the student to cope with this new-found independence.

Fortunate is the teenager who can communicate with his parents — which means that each listens to the other's point of view. Equally fortunate is the student whose parents have permitted him some say in the decision-making process from a very early age.

I think that the "Rising Generation" is typified by an increased knowledge, interest in the world in which they live, a desire to participate actively in change, and a desire to share responsibility.

In preparation for this particular article, I asked several students to describe to me their idea of the ideal parents. The following is a fair summary:

"The ideal parents are there when you need them. They listen to your problems and try to help you think them through. They make a good home and listen to your ideas and then are willing to discuss them with you. (They don't necessarily agree with everything you say.) They don't try to act like people in our generation. (For example: mothers in go-go boots and long straight hair, ugh!). Ideal parents know that you have special problems because of the uncertainty of the future and give guidance in trying to work those problems out but they don't try to live your life for you."

Princeton parents seem to be extremely well read and are very much aware of the national picture concerning child growth and development. However, our students are telling us that they want their parents to know "the me," not the teenager who is depicted in periodicals and books. The combination is necessary, but much more time has to be stressed on your child's particular concerns.

To summarize, students have been saying to me, repeatedly, that they want a sense of security, a sense of self-esteem, self-identification, love and communication. If we as parents, help our youngsters in these five areas, they can successfully face the problems of a rapidly-changing world.

BUSINESS In Princeton

PATTERN IS NORMAL

For First Quarter Index. Those minus signs rearing their heads in "TOWN TOPICS" quarterly index of business in Princeton are not the most comforting sight, but at least, they are normal for this time of year.

Because of many seasonal factors, the first quarter of the new decade, when compared with the fourth of 1969, shows decreases in virtually every category. However, more significantly, many of the same indices have managed increases in comparison with a year ago.

Two of the three banking figures show drops. Checking accounts are off 6 percent, while loans have dipped just 2 percent. Christmas bills paid in January and federal income taxes sent by March 31 all serve to lower checking accounts.

Postal and parking meter receipts both have heavy fourth quarters and then fall off a bit in January through March. The Post Office also runs off slightly different quarters than other businesses, making the first quarter figure always less to begin with.

The welcome signs in this group are the healthy increases in the annual comparisons. Savings, which have rarely dropped in any quarter, continued their steady rise, gaining 3 percent in the quarter and 6 percent over the last 12 months. Checking accounts, while down 6 percent from the preceding three-month period show an equal rise over the first quarter last year.

Both these increases help to push loans to a 7 percent gain over last year. Other increases on a yearly comparison were registered by the Post Office, which hopes soon to alleviate its space problems with a move to West Windsor Township, and parking, for which no immediate solution for more space is in sight.

January, February and March are mostly dormant months for the construction industry, which has seen plenty of other quiet months lately.

was warm housing starts and building permits are down in both municipalities on a quarterly and yearly comparison, with just one exception.

Running out the index, new car sales show a decline from the fourth quarter figure last year. An annual comparison could not be obtained because the figure last year contained sales from Creagar Motors, which no longer provides sales figures.

PICA ADDS EIGHT

To Printing Service PMS Princeton has installed eight new computerized management information systems for its many printing companies, bringing the application of its PMS service to a five-state area.

The PMS service (short for Printing Management Systems) provides periodic computerized reports which permit in-process analysis of jobs. The service would take about four days by conventional, non-computerized methods. A Job Cost Summary can be submitted 24 hours after the job is completed, giving all the billing information necessary on operations such as make-ready, running, and wash-up.

PICA Data Systems is currently marketing PMS service throughout the Atlantic Coastal states, through two computer centers, one in Princeton Junction and one in New York City. Plans are being formulated to expedite national availability, and in addition, PMS is available for use on IBM computer systems which printers already may have installed in their own plants. According to the company, PMS installation costs less than the hiring of one clerical employee.

FILM COMPANY MOVES

Datafilm Now on Route 1. Princeton Datafilm, Inc., has moved from Princeton Junction to its new location at the Princeton Service Center complex on Route 1.

Theodore C. Slosson, Jr., 30 Audubon Lane, has invested in the company and has been elected vice-president and treasurer. It was revealed this week by the firm's president, Hunter Forbush of Hopedell.

Mr. Slosson, formerly a general partner in Goodbody & Co. of New York, is a graduate of Williams College with 13 years of experience in the brokerage industry. At Goodbody, he was responsible for initiating data processing and systems innovations, and he brings this experience to the microfilm field.

In its new building, Princeton Datafilm has greater capabilities for microfilming business files, documents, academic records, research materials, drawings and other data.

The company also supplies and processes microfilm for a number of area concerns. Some area school records are currently being placed on film in the company's new plant.

A new microfilm Rololine camera, one of the most recent innovations by Kodak, is the latest addition to the company's equipment. The camera accepts computer-output continuous forms and photo-reduces them to 16mm film. Although such a camera would represent a considerable investment for an individual user or institution, the firming service provided by Princeton Datafilm is quite inexpensive.

Princeton Datafilm was formerly known as Princeton Micro Systems. "The company has grown both in size and in service, and has adopted the new name to emphasize its increasing capabilities," its president said this week.

APPOINTMENT MADE

Deutch Named at ADR. Applied Data Research has appointed Howard E. Deutch to the position of house counsel and director of contracts. Mr. Deutch, who joined the company in late 1968, is a lawyer and a certified public accountant.

For the past five years, he has been house counsel and job-costing manager for several technical companies in the area of Washington, D.C. Previously, he was employed by the Internal Revenue Service and the Navy Department.

Mr. Deutch is a member of the bars of Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia, and has been admitted to practice before the Supreme Court. He lives on Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction.

The appointment of Mr. Deutch is another in a series of management appointments made by the company during the past month. According to ADR president John R. Bennett, the appointments will aid in strengthening the company's management and internal controls.

VICE-PRESIDENT NAMED

At Research Analysis Corp. Eugene E. Heaton, Jr., has been named to the newly-created position of vice-president and director of research at Response Analysis Corporation. It was announced this week by Heaton Cohen, president. Mr. Heaton was formerly vice-president of Opinion Research Corporation.

In his new position, Mr. Heaton will be responsible for the execution of all aspects of research studies done by RAC.

Business in Princeton

University of Missouri, engineering school. A resident of 9 Wynnewood Drive, Cranbury, Mr. Mesner is manager of TV camera systems for RCA Space Center.

Knighthood in the Guard of St. Patrick is the highest honor conferred by the engineering school. The Guard was formed in 1904 and is the oldest college engineers' club in the nation.

Mr. Mesner's recent citation was for his work on TV systems for unmanned and manned space flights, including TIROS weather satellites, and the Ranger and Apollo 7 & 8 moon flights. He was also a leading figure in the development of a compatible color television broadcasting for commercial use. The RCA system on which he worked prior to 1968 is now used universally for the transmission and reception of regular TV programming.

BANK NAMES THREE

To New Positions, Two promotions and an appointment were announced this week at Princeton Bank and Trust, by president William R. Cosby.

Thomas F. Evans, formerly of Indianapolis, has been named as vice-president in the bank's trust department. Mr. Evans was a vice-president and investment officer at American Fletcher

While in Indianapolis, Mr. Evans was an active member of the Athletic Club, the Society of Financial Analysts, and the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce. He is still treasurer of the First Friends Church of Indianapolis.

William Caffrey, manager of the Princeton Shopping Center and Trust, has been promoted to assistant vice-president, and transferred to the main office at 76 Nassau Street. Paul L. Harkness has been named manager of the shopping center office to succeed Mr. Caffrey.

NAVY PICKS BASE TEN

For Parts Contract Base Ten Systems, Inc. has signed a letter contract with the U.S. Navy for a production run of airborne telemetry commutators. Value of the contract is approximately $40,000.

According to Myles Kranzler, president of Base Ten, this is the largest dollar contract ever placed for this type of equipment. He indicated the firm won the order "on the basis of technical know-how and excellent quality and delivery record," rather than on a basis of price. The contract is expected to be completed in December.

TRI RECEIVES GRANT

Institute's Work Recognized. An unrestricted grant of $75,000 has been awarded to the Textile Research Institute by the Burlington Industries Foundation. It is the second Burlington grant of this type received by the Institute, and is to be spent over the period of 1970 through 1972. TRI president John H. Dillon said this week.

The grant recognizes contributions to basic research and training of textile scientists that have been accomplished at TRI, according to George E. Norman, Jr., a vice president of Burlington Industries. Mr. Norman is also a retiring member of the TRI board of trustees.

Sanited out by Mr. Norman recently were the Institute's research projects on fabric flammability and nonaqueous fishing. He also praised the graduate education effort which the Institute carries out in a collaborative manner with four universities: Princeton, Clemson, Rutgers and North Carolina State.

Burlington Industries Foundation is located in Greensboro, North Carolina, and its awards are made in addition to special project funds and dues paid to TRI by Burlington Industries, Inc.

PEOPLE In The News

Navy Lieutenants Bruce D. Robinson and James I. Munson III have received their "Wings of Gold" as naval aviators after six months of advanced training at Chase Field Naval Air Station in Trenton. Lt. Robinson is the son of Dr. Douglas H. Robinson, R. D. I. Pennington, and Lieutenant Munson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James I. Munson, Jr., 232 Shady Brook Lane.

David K. Cook, 581 Lake Drive, and Paula DeRenner, Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction, have been named to the dean's list for high academic achievement at Gettysburg. He is a senior and she is a freshman at the Pennsylvania liberal arts college.

Navy Petty Officer Third Class Leslie G. Katona, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. Katona of Route 333, Skillman, took part in the commissioning ceremony of the U.S.S. Lang in California. He is one of the original 22 crew members of the destroyer escort.

Paul Rappaport, 13 Broadripple Drive, and Dr. J. Guy Woodward, 230 Riverside Drive, were named Fellows of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers at the recent banquet of the IEEE in New York.

Mr. Rappaport was cited for "contributions to energy conversion devices and leadership in the professional organization of this field." He is currently director of the process and materials applied research laboratory at the David Sarnoff Research Center of RCA.

Mr. Rappaport's work has resulted in more than 40 publications and 15 patents in the field of energy conversion.

Dr. Woodward was honored for "contributions in magnetic tape and disk recording." He is now a member of the technical staff of the RCA digital systems research laboratory.

His research has included vehicular radio noise, underwater sound, musical acoustics, stereophonic sound reproduction, magnetic tape and disc phonograph recording. He is now working on computer recording systems.

Dr. Woodward has credit for 35 publications and 7 patents, and in 1963 he received the Emilie Berliner Award of the Audio Engineering Society for outstanding developments in that field.

Alvin Weisgart, a sophomore art major at Ohio Northern University, is among the first students accepted for a year's study abroad in Verona, Italy, under a program of the Regional Council for International Education. Miss Weisgart, who lives in Skillman, will stay with Italian families, travel and do independent study in the cultural centers of northern Italy.

The granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Edwards, 128 Jefferson Road, Miss Betsy Joy Bomberger of Levittown, Pa., has been elected Miss Bucks County. She will compete later in the Miss Pennsylvania contest.

Emma Bertios, 122 Laurel Avenue, Kingston, a student at Franklin Township High School, was honored recently at an awards program for outstanding business students. The event sponsored by the Berkeley Schools of East Orange and Ridgewood, took place at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Saddle Brook. The principal address was given by Dr. Henry Scott, director of programs for independent colleges and universities in the New Jersey Department of Higher Education.

Dr. Karl Joreskog, 22 Stonick Drive, Lawrence Township, has been awarded the 1970 Arberg Prize, a Swedish tribute for advanced work in statistics. He received the award personally from King Gustav VI Adolf in a Stockholm ceremony last week.

Dr. Joreskog is a senior research statistician at Educational Testing Service, and he has been a visiting lecturer at Princeton University since 1967. The citation accompanying the prize singled out his "developments of numerical methods in multivariate statistical analysis, including factor analysis and more general models with matrix specification of means, variances and covariances."

John Lindstrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Lindstrom, 5r, Drakes Corner Road, and his wife will leave May 1 for London and Holland, where he will complete an 11-day class assignment from the Rochester Institute of Technology. He has earned a straight A average in each marking period. The Lindstrom's other son, Corwin, has been appointed director of placement and career planning at Rider College, effective this July.

Currently guidance counselor for Montgomery Township schools, Mrs. Jillison will be in charge of coordinating interviews of students with corporate recruiters. A native of Austin, Texas, Mrs. Jillison graduated from Douglass College, earned her master's degree from Rutgers and has been doing graduate work at Trenton State College.

Moore Gates Jr., senior vice-president of United States Trust Company, has been elected to the national board of directors of the Boys' Clubs of America.

Miss Toshiko Takezu, Princeton University professor and one of the nation's foremost potters, will demonstrate her craft on the program "On Camera," Thursday morning at 10:30 on Philadelphia television station WFIL (channel 6). She will also be featured on an ABC network program on handicrafts, "With These Hands," which will be shown over the same station Friday, May 8.

A MORE CONGENIAL SPOT: we simply cannot think of shao the Braehura section of Princeton Township for happy family living. A quiet, shady residential backwater but close to school and shopping, it can't be beat for convenience . . . And in this fine location we can offer a 6 bedroom, 3 bath two level (not a split) mildly contemporary house on a woody 3 1/4 acre sloping to a brook. Center hall, 30' living-dining room with cherry paneled fireplace wall, comfortable family kitchen, huge playroom. Two car garage.
$68,500.

A LITTLE GREY HOUSE THAT COULD: and did find happiness with the addition of a spectacular new living room. Two steps down from the rest of the house, with gleaming dark oak floor, soaring, beamed ceiling, fireplace and wall of sliding glass opening to a broad sundeck. It is really the making of the house. Besides this wonderful, big room, there is a center hall, sitting-dining room with fireplace, modern kitchen and breakfast room, 4 bedrooms, (one quietly off by itself) and 2 full baths. Paneled playroom with door to the garden and adjoining powder room. Basement and Garage on a beautifully landscaped lot in desirable Riverside. In perfect order and offered for the first time at $66,000.

A YARD FULL OF PLAYMATES: will greet your happy children the day you move into this handsome brick and spanking white clapboard colonial in nearby Lawrenceville. On a shady lot, it is perfectly arranged for a young family: formal living and dining rooms open from a good entrance hall, while a big, paneled family room with fireplace is directly accessible from the dining area off the kitchen. Upstairs, there are 4 bedrooms. 2 1/2 baths. Full, dry cellar and two car garage. Centrally air-conditioned. All city utilities.
Storms and screens. $52,900.

NOW THAT THE YOUNG HAVE FLOWN: and your need for extra bedrooms has shrunk to putting up grandchildren and an occasional guest, wouldn't it be nice to consolidate a bit. This 3 bedroom one story house in the western Borough with its formal living and dining rooms will still permit you to entertain as you wish, and there's a cozy study for quiet moments. Excellent kitchen, 2 1/2 baths. Lovely grounds. $87,500.

ABSOLUTE PERFECTION: is a phrase we shy away from on the theory that if we heady it about, you won't believe us when we really mean it. But this 1 1/2 story colonial in a serene country setting midway between Princeton and Lawrenceville comes so close that we have no choice. For the small family, the room arrangement couldn't be better: on the ground floor nearly 50' of living room with fireplace, dining room and study stretch across the rear of the house opening invitingly into one another and out onto two lovely terraces. Master bedroom and bath and delightful country kitchen with fireplace and cozy sitting area complete the 1st floor. Two upstairs bedrooms and bath. Sound condition and immaculate condition. Artistic landscaping.
$62,500

BEAUTIFULLY MAINTAINED and beautifully roomy with both den and family room. Four bedrooms, two and a half baths — the large one acre lot has been well planted by the owner with over 100 trees — an ideal home for an active, jolly family. $52,500

3.9 ACRES OF WOODLAND is the setting for a completely new house and grounds as we've ever seen. Such unusual features as a pony barn, a four-car wagon shed, a fenced pool and an outdoor barbecue area are extras that come with the 1½-story house. The new family room has a fireplace, adjoining bath and guest room above. There are two bedrooms and a bath upstairs. Peace and quiet are assured and the view from the house is superb. $55,000

ONE OF OUR PEOPLE was saying there isn't any house on our list that offers more for the money than this one. The central air conditioning is only one of its appealing features. There are four bedrooms, two and a half baths, a pretty, spacious living room, a large family room and there's even a study for dad. The kitchen is bright, cheery and well arranged. An attractive dining room and two car garage help make this house an excellent buy at the price. $48,500

BUILT WITH CARE by the present occupants is this Western End Cape Cod. The living room has a fireplace, the kitchen opens to a dinette and there's a screened porch and garage. Add three bedrooms and a new master suite, throw in a beautiful little garden including a mimosa tree, surround it all with a privacy fence and you have a place any family would enjoy calling home. $41,000

A PLENTIFUL SUPPLY OF PLAYMATES for your youngsters, is guaranteed in this four-bedroom, two-bath Ranch house. Another reason to buy is the location on a quiet street with no thru traffic. There's a living room with fireplace, a room to use as study, den or fifth bedroom, a complete kitchen, separate dining room and garage. $47,800

IF LOCATION IS IMPORTANT and you simply must be within a short walk or drive to everything in town, this one is for you. From the high-windward studio facing the street to the slate terrace at the rear, this is an interesting house. There's a third bedroom for live-in help or nurse, three baths, big kitchen and living room with fireplace. $50,000

IN FAVOR OF ABORTION RETORM. Miss Elizabeth Cowan and Orest Pelech, graduate students in Russian history, both favor attempts to liberalize existing abortion laws. Taking abortion out of the back alley and into the hospital will prevent unnecessary tragedies, says Mr. Pelech. (Staff Photo)

Question Of The Week

Question: Are you in favor or opposed to attempts to have abortion laws liberalized?

Where asked: Around town.

Miss Elizabeth Cowan, Graduate College, graduate student in Russian history: In favor. So much is done on the side and done poorly. I think if a woman doesn't want a child, it would be unfortunate for the child if she had it — as well as her self.

Orest Pelech, Nassau Street, graduate student in Russian history: In favor. Basically, I feel it is a mother's right to have the decision whether to have a child or not. Taking abortion out of the back alley and into the hospital will prevent quite unnecessary tragedies.

Mrs. Sherry Hart, Lawrence Apartments, housewife: Definitely in favor. I'm very pleased about New York State's decision. Helvied I should say. Why am I in favor? Because there are many women who have died needlessly. It's a very simple matter and it can easily be handled by a physician. I think the outrages that have occurred because of non-legal abortion laws are more important than the moral issues involved.

Mrs. Diana Krejci, 28 Scott Lane, housewife: I certainly am in favor. Definitely. Absolutely. Totally. It's badly needed.

Mrs. A. G. Graum, Lawrence Township, housewife: I'm in favor — very much so, because I don't see why anybody should be forced to bear a child they don't want and then have to spend the next 20 years taking care of it. I think this causes a lot of child abuse we hear about: the child isn't wanted.

J. Robert Sheur, Trenton, salesman: In favor. For medical reasons there are a lot of borderline pregnancies and I think it should be up to the woman involved to make the decision whether to have the baby or not.

Mrs. Alan Smith, Orchard Farm, real estate saleswoman: In favor. You bet! It's about time!

Mrs. Jean Prikos, 7 Pine St. housewife: I'm in favor because it is going on now illegally anyway. It should be a lot safer; it would spare a lot of doctors a lot of trouble. There's enough unwanted babies now waiting for adoption. Why add to it?

Miss Barbara Brown, Trenton, secretary: Opposed. I feel if you pass a law okaying abortion, people will just go do their thing. I don't feel that's right. Of course, if a person's health is endangered that's a different story. But just to get an abortion for the sake of abortion I think is wrong. I am speaking of married couples. I feel they should be able to use protection. Now if they feel they've made a mistake they'll just get an abortion. I don't think it's right.

Two More Views

One unmarried woman, who reported that she had had an abortion performed on her for $1200 in Puerto Rico, said that she was in favor. "I wasn't capable of taking care of a child," she said. "It's a big responsibility. Why bring a child into the world in that situation?"

Another woman, obviously pregnant, was only the second person in 16 who opposed abortion reform. Said she: "Everything is changing too fast. This is one thing that ought to stay the way it is, I suppose," she continued, "that it is a good thing for girls who get pregnant who shouldn't, but I'm opposed to it on moral principles."

Miss Leticia Kurtz, 20 Mercer Street, switchboard operator: In favor. definitely. I'm a woman — that's reason enough. I think it should be up to a woman to have an abortion if she wants one. I'm not opposed to it on any moral grounds whatsoever.

Thomas Grelton, Graduate College, graduate student in history: I'm pro, because any law that forces a socially necessary function to be in criminal hands is a ridiculous law.

Miss Ellen Woodbury, Pyne Hall, graduate student: Yes, I'm in favor. I just can't see any reason to have laws the way they are now. Current abortion laws seem unreasonable.

Mrs. Priscilla Potts, 145 Ewing Street, assistant field director, Gallup & Robinson: Strongly in favor. I follow the popular opinion that this is not a matter for the state to be concerned with. It's a personal matter — strictly between the woman and her physician.

Mrs. Ruth Ensor, Pennington, legal secretary: In favor. I think abortion laws are terribly antiquated, dating back to the 1800s in most states. I believe there is a need to change laws to meet the times. New Jersey will, too. They seem to like to follow Rockefeller. It will be done eventually in all the states. It has to be. We can't have women traveling all the way to Hawaii or London for an abortion.

Mrs. Feruhade Ozbas, Graduate College, graduate student from Turkey: In favor, because it means freedom for women. It should be up to the woman to decide. If a woman couldn't support another child, I feel it is good for her to be able to control her family this way. It's a kind of family planning.

Mrs. Bernard Shapiro, Kendall Park, secretary: In favor, definitely. I think people should be able to decide for themselves without having to fight against laws from the state, government or church.

News Of The THEATRES

FILMS AT GARDEN
In Spring Repertory, Last Fall's repertory series of films at the Garden Theatre will bloom again this spring — three weeks this time instead of five, as before, but with the same kind of significant, yet overlooked examples of cinema work.

The series will consist of nine programs, starting next Wednesday, April 29 and continuing through Tuesday, May 19. Eight films, only one of which has previously been seen in this area will be shown.

In addition, the series will have something new: a children's film, "My Side of the Mountain," which will be shown at three special matinees on May 2, 9 and 16 at 2 p.m.

Screening times for the regular films will follow the usual Garden Theatre schedule and all foreign releases will be shown in their original language with English subtitles. The repertory is again being sponsored jointly by McCarter Theatre and The Garden Theatre.

The series will open with "La Femme Infidele," made last year in France by Claude Chabrol, who filmed "Les Biches," "La Femme Infidele" will play Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, April 29 and 30 and May 1. It will be followed by "Wild in the Streets" (USA); "The Red and the White" (Hungary-Russia); Chaplin's "The Circus" (USA); "Hour of the Wolf" (Sweden by Bergman); "The Immortal Story" (France, to be shown with Bannet's "Simon of the Desert"); "Adalen '31" (Sweden); and "Teorema" (Italy). See advertisement, page 30.

REPERTORY ENDS
With "Troilus" This Friday and Saturday, performances of Shakespeare's "Troilus and Cressida" will bring down the curtain on the 1959-60 repertory series at McCarter. "Troilus" is the eighth play in the repertory. Tickets for these two closing performances may be obtained at the McCarter box-office, or ordered by calling 921-6700.

TV COMMERCIALS
At McCarter? Yes! "The Best TV Commercial of 1959," which sounds like an old Busby Berkeley musical, will be shown at McCarter next Tuesday at 8 in the New Cinema Series.

To the question "Are TV commercials really a legitimate art form?" the founder — director of the annual Radio & TV Commercial Festival quite naturally answers "Absolutely."

"Television commercials are really miniseries," he says,

"most of them involve a heavy input of creative talent. By and large, they are better written, acted and directed than many of the programs they interrupt."

At McCarter, the program will include a full evening of prize-winners: the best of Stan Freberg, the Alka Seltzer and Volkswagen commercials and a preview of candidates for the '70 awards that will be presented next month.

Also—samples of "new wave" commercials from Japan, Germany and Great Britain plus some classics from television's early days.

GARDEN SPRING FILM REPERTORY

Three Weeks: Nine Programs • Starting Wednesday, April 29 thru May 19

Nine significant films from this country and abroad, including works by both established directors and exciting newcomers

PROGRAM ONE:	PROGRAM TWO:	PROGRAM THREE:
Wed.-Fri. April 29-May 1	Sat.-Sun.-Mon. May 2-4	Tues. & Wed. May 5-6
LA FEMME INFIDELE (France, 1969, color)	WILD IN THE STREETS (USA, 1968, color)	THE RED &amp; THE WHITE (Hungary-Russia, 1967)
An ironic comedy a la Hitchcock by CLAUDE CHABROL (Les Biches) with Stephanie Audran & Maurice Ronet; tranquil, elegant and sensual. (Rated GP)	A blistering black comedy about a teenage takeover of the USA led by a pop-rock idol (Christopher Jones); witty & biting, with Shelley Winters & Hal Holbrook.	A stunning epic of Warfare by MIKLOS JANCOS, one of Europe's brightest talents, visually entralling, on a par with the best of Eisenstein.
PROGRAM FOUR:	PROGRAM FIVE:	PROGRAM SIX:
Thurs. & Fri., May 7-8	Sat.-Sun.-Mon. May 9-11	Tues. & Wed. May 12-13
Chaplin's THE CIRCUS	Bergman's HOUR OF THE WOLF (Sweden, 1968)	THE IMMORTAL STORY (France, 1968, color)
At long last: a re-discovered Chaplin feature (1928) with the Little Tramp as a circus prop man who saves the show but loses the girl. Plus: Buster Keaton's last film, THE RAILRODDER.	Bergman at his enigmatic best in a tale of the struggle between fantasy & reality on a lonely island with Max Van Sydow, Liv Ullman & Ingrid Thulin.	A personal parable of the artist playing God, as practiced by Orson Welles in his first color film (with Jeanne Moreau). Plus: Luis Bannet's SIMON OF THE DESERT: scathing and hilarious.

PROGRAM NINE: Three Special Saturday Matinees for Children:
Saturday Afternoons May 2, 19 & 26 at 2:00 p.m.

MY SIDE OF THE MOUNTAIN (USA, 1969, color)

The best children's film of the year, about a would-be Thoreau (aged 13), his pet raccoon & falcon, and some adventures based on human experience; a real rarity.

Most Happy Folla, scheduled for a four-performance hit run starting Thursday, May 7 and continuing that Friday and Saturday, with a matinee on Saturday for people who can't stay up late at night.

The musicals were started in 1961 by Milton Lyon, who has directed all but one of them in the ensuing years. A few veterans of the first production — "Guys and Dolls" — are still around for the 1970 production, most notably Greg Farrell who played Nathan Detroit in "Guys and Dolls" and Harrold Hill, in last year's "The Music Man."

Leading role this year will be sung — literally, the musical is almost operatic in form — by Steve Kimbrough, who is an opera singer.

Joan Morton Lucas will again be choreographer. She has even appeared on stage as Ellie in "Show Boat" and Susan in "Finian's Rainbow."

A OK MUSICAL AT PDS
"The Boy Friend." The Drama Club and the Music Department at Princeton Day School have combined to give us an exuberant production of "The Boy Friend," a period piece that contains some relevant truths for any generation.

Allison Gilbert, who sings a pure, sweet soprano, is the poor little rich girl with no date for the ball. Along comes a handsome messenger, Chris Reeve, and things start looking up.

The entire performance is delightful and carefree. There will be one more performance, this Friday evening, and it is one that will be enjoyed by any age. Kristen Garver is a most convincing Madame Dubonnet, frothy and witty. David Mack as the heroine's father is stiffly effective, particularly in the duet with Madam, "Fancy Forgetting."

There's broad humor in Jeremy Bonner's portrayal of the eye-hungry Lord Brodchurst, and Jodie Platt is his terribly strident wife, Robert Norman, Laurie Merrick and Judy Kleinberg come on strong.

IN "MARAT/SADE", Monsieur Coulmier (Larry Striebnan) director of the asylum of Charenton, and his family, Mme. Coulmier (Shells Sheffield) and daughter (Jody Landman) invite you to "The Persecution and Assassination of Jean-Paul Marat as Performed by the inmates of the Asylum of Charenton Under the Direction of the Marquis de Sade." At Theatre Intime, this weekend and next.

Also on the fun side, Chris as swains of the girls — And Smith as the chic little maid when both choruses get to dancing the Charleston — they're choruses which does a happily wild great.

— Olivia Miller
number called "Perfect Young Ladies." Then there's a very agile group of boys who appear and reappear in the dances

TV COMMERCIALS: The Best of 1969

TV COMMERCIALS have long since won their spurs as a legitimate art form. The best of them involve a heavy concentration of creative talent, and are really "minimovies." By most criteria, they are better written, acted and directed, with better music and cinematography, than most of the programs they so irritatingly interrupt. And funnier, too. Every spring "Clos" are awarded to the year's best commercials in a host of categories. Wallace Ross, founder-director of the American Radio & TV Commercial Festival will present in person a full evening of the prize-winners of recent years, including:

- The Best of Volkswagen, Alka-Seltzer, & Stan Freberg;
- Last Year's Prize-winners, plus a preview of leading candidates for the 1970 Clio Awards coming up in May;
- International prize-winner from abroad ("new wave" commercials from Japan, Germany & Great Britain);
- Classic humorous commercials down through the years (Yes, Virginia, there'll always be a station break . . .)

IT'S NEW To Us

THE WORLD AS IT WAS At "The Drawing Room,"
When you go to see the English watercolors and drawings of the late 18th and early 19th Centuries at "The Drawing Room," you'll feel a sense of wonder that the world was ever this lovely.

It's a romantic view of countryside and seashore, influenced by the poets of the period, and one that reinforces the dream of today's conservationists.

The Drawing Room, located at 33 Witherspoon Street, opens this week with a wide choice of art, but it will specialize in the landscapes produced by the more than 2,000 watercolorists whose work more often than not unsigned, is both accomplished and charming.

This period in English art has always been prized by English collectors, but only recently has become popular in this country, thanks in large part to the great collections formed by the Huntington Library and Art Gal-ery and the Paul Mellon Foundation.

"It was the time when painting was a gentleman's pastime," said Mrs. Laurie Vance Johnson, owner of the new gallery, last week as the last of the pictures was hung. "They freely didn't sign their work, which they gave to their friends."

Mrs. Johnson, wife of Professor E. Dudley H. Johnson, a chairman of the English Department at Princeton, has long been interested in the British School of this period, initially because "his interest is the 19th Century."

The Drawing Room is located on the second floor at 33 Witherspoon in a high-ceilinged room marvelously lighted by an arched window that nearly spans the wall above the street. The paintings are hung against a softly-greyed beige background and there's a comfortable

AT "THE DRAWING ROOM," Princeton's newest art gallery, Laurie Vance Johnson has assembled an outstanding collection of watercolors and drawings by English artists of the 18th and 19th Centuries. The gallery opened this Wednesday at 33 Witherspoon Street on the second floor.

amount of furniture where you may sit and contemplate them.
"The landlord wanted to cut that window down!" Mrs. Johnson says in grievous surprise.
She has achieved a very tranquil room, in keeping with the art.

There's a wide choice of watercolors and drawings, although the gallery will specialize in the English 18th and 19th Century works. You'll find an-known and such minor masters as John Varley, David Cox, Copley Fielding, Samuel Prout, William Callow, Birket Foster,
Edward Lear and George Romney.

Near the great window is Edward Lear's watercolor of a yellow iris, painted when he was 14 and dated in his handwriting, June 30, 1826. "This came right from his family," Mrs. Johnson observed. "An aunt died —, The Huntington has one, too."

Percy Thomas, a pupil of Whistler, is represented by a river scene, painted with lovely blues. All of the watercolors are displayed in French matts, a style employing subtly-colored mat boards and soft-wooden rinks. The matting was done by the Johnsons' elder son, Alexander.

For those who love marine scenes, there's a painting of a three-masted "man-of-war" by Thomas Wainley (1753-1800) its wind-filled sails high against a foreboding sky. And Miles Birket Foster's view of the seashore, with three children dreaming on the sand near rocks and pilings, and surf fishermen at the edge of the sea.

Gazing around the walls, your eye is caught by John Varley's 1811 watercolor of a wide, shallow river against a haze of mountains, and a somewhat similar scene by John Skelton,
"Northern Italy, perhaps," Mrs.
Johnson surmises. "They traveled a lot in those days."

The watercolors bear her out: an intricately-designed fountain painted in Constantinople by Elijah Walton among them.

There are a few paintings by women, particularly a castle and most scene by Lady Charlotte Lindsay. "A woman in New York collects only the work of women artists of the 19th Century," Mrs. Johnson comments.

The Drawing Room opens at 11 a.m. Wednesday through Saturday. It closes at 5 on weekdays and at 1 on Saturday.

Joe Cocker is known for his recording of "She Came In Through the Bathroom Window," and his most recent release, "Space Captain." He took part in the Woodstock music festival last summer and is featured in the film which grew out of the event.
His traveling company, currently visiting colleges across the U. S., numbers more than 40 persons.

"ALICE" AT BRECHT
In New Brunswick, A version of "Alice in Wonderland" devised as "adult" will play again this weekend at Brecht West, 61 Albany Street. New Brunswick it opened last week-end.
Performances this Friday and Saturday will be given at 8:30 p.m. and again at 10:30 p.m.
Andie Gregory is directing this "Alice" and will take it to Broadway in the Loft Theatre in New York and in July to the Berkshire Summer Festival in Stockbridge, Mass.
Mr. Gregory's performers are The Manhattan Ensemble, a group of six actors who have been working together for the past two years. "Alice" itself has been in rehearsal for seven months, a strenuous rehearsing schedule required by the kind of ensemble work Mr. Gregory has blocked out for his production.

PRICE AND ERIC
The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie (now playing) has its chief distinction in the magnificent performance by Maggie Smith as the wilful and hush spirited, appealing but perverse, witty yet foolish school teacher heroine. There are many other admirable qualities in this film version of the play, but what Miss Smith does, should finally establish this English actress with American audiences.
It is an "actor's picture" in the sense that it is filled with superb character portraits. Celia Johnson is the conservative headmistress of the girls' school and enemy of all the individualist heroine stands for. Robert Stephens is the married painter-teacher who is obsessed with Miss Brodie and wants to continue the affair she has broken off. He is splendidly brash and arrogant.
Pamela Franklin as the pet student who betrays Miss Brodie, Gwyneth Jones as the shy teacher who pursues Miss Brodie, and Jane Carr as the arch, sucking student are all excellent. The rest of the cast are singly and collectively fine.

PLAYHOUSE
Zabriske Point (now playing) The theme seems to be that in the eyes of Michelangelo Antonioni, affluent America is spiritually sick.
He expresses this in a number of ways — through emphasis on police brutality, student ferment, lecherous-minded boys' discussions with sex and wealth and so on, with the ending even more graphic.
Plot has never been one of the strong points of the Italian director, and this film is no exception.

ception. What there is can be put briefly — a campus militant shoots a policeman in a skirmish, he flees in a private plane he steals from an airport and heads for the Mojave Desert where he meets a girl secretary. They make love on the desert at Zabriske Point, after which he returns the plane to Los Angeles and is shot by a policeman.
The film is beautifully photographed by Alfio Contino. Zabriske Point is a fascinating landscape of sterile river beds in white and gray. The leads are played by newcomers Mark Frechette and provocative Daria Halprin. Their performances were obviously rigidly controlled by the director, and they served him well.

GARDEN
The Damned (now playing) No film for the faint at heart, "The Damned" is a cinematic tour de force, repelling and fascinating, on the horrors that made Nazi Germany possible. There is so much evil, so much perversion, so much shock, so much unadulterated horror crammed into this Götterdämmerung that the viewer is both staggered and repelled. This is director Lucchino Visconti's purpose.

MUSIC In Princeton

MALE CHOIR TO SING

In Trinity Church, The 50 voice choir of Men and Boys will give a concert at 7:30 p.m. this Sunday in Trinity Church, featuring the music of Handel, James Lillo, organist and choirmaster, is concert director.

The choir includes 25 boys from the greatest Princeton community who sing treble (soprano) and 25 males, tenors and basses from area secondary schools, Princeton and Rutgers Universities and Westminster Choir College. It has presented concerts in St. Thomas Church, New York, and in Washington Cathedral.

Sunday's concert will feature guest soloists, Jean Hakes, soprano, Meredith Bung, soprano; Jean Crowley, mezzo-soprano, and from the choir: Robert Rockwell, countertenor, Timothy Seitz, tenor, and Douglas Hefree, baritone.

Jean Hakes, a member of the New York Chamber Soloists, and professor of voice at Brooklyn College, was for many years soloist with the New York Pro Musica. Meredith Bung, a graduate of Westminster Choir College, has been a soloist with the Westminster Choir, Jean Crowley, a former radio artist, has been a frequent soloist in the Princeton community and was for many years a featured soloist in the Williamsburg Palace Concerts.

Works by Handel to be heard include a Concerto Grosso for orchestra, the Laudate Pueri for solo soprano and orchestra, and the rarely-performed Dixit Dominus for five-part chorus, soloists and orchestra of strings, harpsichord and organ.

The concert is the last in the current series of cards of admission will be available at the door.

CHAMBER GROUP TO DEBUT
In Westminster Church, The public is invited to hear the premiere performance of the Westminster Chamber Ensemble (orchestra and chorus), Thursday, April 20, at Bristol Chapel, on the campus of Westminster Choir College.

Ensemble conductor Keith Rhodes, a student at the Choir College, has in the past been conductor of the Peabody Conservatory Chamber Orchestra, assistant conductor of the Peabody Opera and Symphony Orchestra, and an assistant conductor of the International-Sommerakademie Orchestra, in Salzburg, Austria.

The concert of orchestral, operatic and opera literature will open at 8 p.m. with a divertimento in D-Major by Mozart followed by a Mass Solo quartet for the Mass consists of Westminster students Sheila Evans, soprano, Lorraine Phillips, contralto, David Pace, tenor, and Barry Ellison, bass.

The concert will also feature soprano Karen Raunig, a New York recitalist who specializes in French Art Song and is a member of the voice faculty at Vassar College. She will sing recitatives and arias from "Didi and Aeneas," by Henry Purcell, and "Gulian Censare," by George R. Handel. The Eastern scene from "Cavalleria Rusticana" by Pietro Mascagni will conclude the concert.

MISS BEARDSLEE HERE

In Friends of Music Concert, Bethany Beardslee, soprano and Robert Helps, pianist will be presented by the Friends of Music in Procter Hall of the Graduate College, Sunday afternoon, at 3:30 p.m.

Miss Beardslee is well known to Princeton audiences. She has performed here under the auspices of the Friends of Music, the University Concerts and the University Music Department. Her recent recital at New York's Tully Hall received great critical acclaim. Her interpretations of contemporary music as well as of the lieder repertoire make her one of the most versatile singers of the day.

Mr. Helps has established himself as an outstanding pianist by the brilliance, beauty and authority of his performances. He has performed extensively in the United States and Europe in solo recitals and jointly with well known singers and instrumentalists.

A composer, as well as pianist, Mr. Helps studied with Roger Sessions and his works have been performed by William Masselos, Beveridge Webster, Miss Bourdelle and Isadore Cohen. Mr. Helps taught piano at Princeton University, and is at present teaching at the New England Conservatory in Boston.

Their program will be a group of Schubert and Brahms songs and Schoenberg's "Das Buch der hangenden Garten." The concert is open to the public, admission free. Parking for Procter Hall is available in the Graduate School lot off Springdale Road.

THIS CHOIR TO SING

An All-Brahms Evening. An all-Brahms concert is planned Tuesday evening by the Princeton High School Choir and Madrigal Group in the High School Auditorium. The choir will be directed by William R. Trego, second and fourth movements, and Mrs. Nancianne Parrella will be the accompanist.

The 8 p.m. program will start with excerpts from the Brahms German Requiem; the first, second and fourth movements. "Blessed are they," "Behold, all flesh is as the grass," and "In the end is The dwelling place."

After an intermission, the Madrigal Group will sing four songs arranged by Brahms — "I'd enter your garden," "The Fiddler," "How and How the streams," and "At night."

To close the program, the choir will sing the Schechsalied, or Song of Destiny, in German. Christopher Sanborn, a member of the choir, will accompany the song, playing the beautiful and difficult piano rendition of the orchestral score.

The public is invited to attend without charge.

CHOIR TO SING

In Miller Chapel Program, The Princeton Theological Seminary Oratorio Choir will give a free public concert Monday evening of music by Mozart and Vaughn Williams.

In the program beginning at 7:45 in Miller Chapel, soloists will be S. T. Kimbrough, Jr., baritone, and June Tipton, soprano. Clyde B. Tipton, visiting lecturer in music at the Seminary will conduct, and organist Lee Malone will accompany the program which includes Ralph Vaughn Williams' "Five Mystical Songs," and Mozart's "Vespere Solenne se Confessore."

The five songs were composed to poems by George Herbert, and first performed in 1911 at a Three Chorus Festival in Worcester Cathedral, with the composer conducting both the choir and orchestra.

MILES GROUP TO PLAY

April 25 in Alexander Hall, Progressive pianist Barry Miles will play with his quartet in Princeton University's Alexander Hall at 8:30 on Saturday, April 25.

Barry Miles' music defies classification. His strong jazz background is evident in his keyboard work, but the rock-influenced guitar work of Jack Wilkins, as well as the use of several latin-flavored arrangements, give Miles' group the eclectic sound it brings to Princeton.

WOODLAND COUNTRY DAY CAMP

June 29-August 7, 6-week day camp for boys and girls, ages 9-18. Swimming, instruction, sports, crafts, nature study, hikes, singing, cook-outs, etc.

RIDDERING DAY NURSERY SCHOOL

Registration now being accepted for school opening September, Half and Full days, ages 3-5.

Mrs. Louise Riddering, Director
State Licensee

For information and application to either call (201) 297-1956.

History will be repeating itself when Miles takes the stage, for he will be accompanied by his 13-year old brother, Terry, on the drums. Barry, who was noted as a drummer at a similarly early age, was himself consoled by critics and musicians alike to be a true prodigy.

Barry's percussion training not to mention his family ties, make for exciting exchanges between his piano and his brother's drums. Joining Barry, Terry, and Jack Wilkins in Alexander Hall will be Igor Baruch on electric bass. Wilkins is featured on Barry's soon-to-be-released album on the Poppy label.

Barry Miles has earned the applause of musicians and critics throughout his career. "There is only one Barry Miles," says Dave Brubeck, and Woody Herman adds that "Barry Miles is the greatest." Barry was a Playboy Jazz Poll Nominee and a Downbeat Critics Poll Nominee in 1969, and won the first prize BMI Composer award.

The Barry Miles concert is part of station WPRB's Spring Entertainment Series. All seats are $1.50 and are unsold. Tickets are available at the Princeton University Store, the Last Change Saloon and Record Shop, and at the door. Folk singer Tommas Van Zandt and rock group, "the Mandrake Menorial," will complete WPRB's concert series when they perform on May 8 in Alexander.

DWARF PLANTS ON SALE

Rhododendrons Featured. A group of rhododendrons, 13 years old and only two feet tall will be featured buys Saturday when the annual sale of the American Rhododendron Society Princeton Chapter, takes place at the Hun School from 10 to 4. Seventy varieties of regular and dwarf azaleas and rhododendrons will be offered in all.

The 13-year-old dwarf plants, known as "degronainum," have some interesting characteristics: they form a solid evergreen mound of leaves, each leaf recurved, with a burnished side above and felled side underneath. They are grown from seed collected on Kyusu Island of Japan.

To round out the offering of Japanese plants, container-grown specimens of faurus, med. yakuksimamum will be on sale. All are closely related to the dwarf rhododendron.

Six eastern hybridizers will have specimens represented in the sale, including Messrs. Dexter, Goble, Nearing, Shammurlo, Leach and Amates. The plants they have developed will premeditate, since large-leaved rhododendrons like Scutellaria and Wheatly are increasingly in demand and often scarce in the nurseries.

The well-known "Ironclad" also will be included. These hardy varieties, developed in England and Holland, are particularly viable in the eastern U. S.

FETE NEEDS ITEMS

For Lane of Shops. The Princeton Hospital Fete, is in need of everybody's spring-cleaning surplus, according to its chairman who are busy planning many varieties of booths and sales tables.

The Lane of Shoes this year will be selling men's articles, "second-time-around" clothing for women, knickknacks for executives, sports and bar equipment, military uniforms, and even wigs and hairpieces if there's a supply.

The "Kitchen Catchpenny" will concentrate on utensils, cookbooks, canisters and other things useful to the chef. A garden booth, "The Hanging Basket," needs planters, bowls and hanging containers to get ready for the green-thumb contingent.

Tays in good condition, eye-catching conversation pieces and virtually anything which might be valuable to someone will be gladly accepted by the Hospital Fete Committee.

Arnold Goldman has added a great deal of variety to the offerings at the Food Mart since he bought it several years ago from Albert Levine (who has retired to Florida, as his many friends know).

You'll find both prime and choice cuts of meat. Soul food, such as sweet breads, livers, hearts, kidneys, pigs feet, is drawing interest these days. The meat department (known as the "Bob and Ray Show") does a fair amount of to-order service, boning chicken breasts, or boning and rolling a pork loin. Try the Polish Kielbasa sausage sometime, sliced for hors d'oeuvres or served like a hot dog.

The Food Mart carries a full line of grocery products and frozen foods. For the girl-in-a-hurry, there are many delicatessen items to plan a menu around. Big Greek salami, slim "picnic salami, canicola coated with spices, prosciutto, and among the cheeses provolone, brie, edam and — a best seller — cheddar with port wine.

Behind the meat counter are Bob and Ray. Bob Eitel, an infantryman in the Pacific in World War II, has been at the Food Mart since it opened at the close of the war. In those days there were nine men in the meat department and five on the grocery side. Soap powder was at a premium, and the line to the store extended all the way to Nassau Street on opening day.

Back in those days, the A&P was on Nassau Street, Bob and Ray recall, where Davidson's is located now. There was an American store on Witherspoon where the loan office is these days, and an Acme on Nassau where Bellows is located.

"That first week we had only spiced and pressed ham in cans to sell," Bob recalls. "Later, when we got meat to sell, fresh ham was 15 cents a pound and hamburger was three pounds for 25 cents."

Ray, who began working for Albert Levine, the original owner, after serving in the Medical Corps during World War II, says, "Quite a few of our customers say, 'how do I cook this?' I learned from my wife and mother, but I never went to cooking school."

The Food Mart is the kind of place where you don't feel shy about asking. They'll deliver, too.

TOWN TOPICS goes into every home and place of business in Princeton. By their own admission, no other newspaper does half as well.

MAJOR TO PARTICIPATE:

In May 2 Art Show. Town ship Mayor John Wallace will award prizes at the Open Air Art Show, scheduled May 2 on the Mall at the Princeton Shopping Center. Hours will be from 10 to 5.

Invitations to exhibit have been mailed to some 500 painters, sculptors and photographers in New Jersey and in Bucks County, Pennsylvania. All area artists may participate as long as space remains. Reservations should be made through the Shopping Center office.

Among the judges of the event will be Professors Robert A. Koch and Joseph Brown of Princeton University, and David B. Bittan, editor of "This Week," a publication of the Trenton Times-Advertiser.

Entries may be offered for sale at the discretion of the individual artists, on a commission-free basis. The rain date for the show is Saturday, May 16.

TOUR IS PLANNED

By Holyoke Alumnae on April afternoon in May, 1970

Mount Holyoke Open House tour will offer (outgoing) a review of this area's architectural history spanning more than two centuries, from 1772 to the present.

The biennial house tour, benefiting the college's development fund, is planned for Saturday, May 16, from 12:30 to 1:30. It is entitled, "A History of Architecture II," and the itinerary of six houses was revealed this week by the co-chairs, Mrs. Walter J. Kautzmann and Mrs. James Chandler.

Oldest house on the tour is Trevena Farm in Skillman, where the Australian-born author I.A.R. Wyke spent the last 20 years of her life. The core of the largest clapboard mansion dates back to 1732, but subsequent additions have brought the room total to 15. Present owners are Mr. and Mrs. Heyley H. Miller.

One of Lawrenceville's vulnerable stone houses will also be opened to the tour. Located on the Lawrenceville Road at home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Davies, is 200 years old with many original details preserved intact.

Another historic home is the Walter Louvie House, now the home of Princeton University president Robert P. Goheen and Mrs. Goheen. Built 120 years ago for the bride of John Potter Stockton, a U.S. Senator and American minister (in Rome), it was later the summer home of Paul Tulane, founder of Tulane University. It is a classic example of the Tuscan revival style, one of a number of Italianate villas designed by architect John Notman.

Colorful in both history and appearance is the "Steamboat Gothic" home of Mr. and Mrs. William Schreyer on Library Place. It was moved long ago from its original site on University Place, where it served at the turn of the century as the home of one of Princeton University's first undergraduate eating clubs, Cottage Club. It has recently undergone extensive interior renovation.

For contrast, the tour also includes a dramatic modern house, a prize-winning design of architect Robert Hillier. Mr. and Mrs. G. Gordon M. Hill are owners of the Short Road home, built only last year.

The sixth house is the interesting home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. George, part of the Drumhwaite estate. In addition to historical and architectural interest, the houses also offer an extensive display of antiques, art works and special effects.

Hostesses representing the local Mount Holyoke club will welcome tourgoers at each house.

They are: Mrs. John Graas-kamp, Mrs. John B. Campbell, Mrs. Thomas Johnson, Mrs. Harry R. Hill Jr., Mrs. H. Huntington Bliss, Mrs. Henry R. Martin, Mrs. Immanuel Kohn, Mrs. Herrington Maurer, Mrs. Clyde R. Claus, Mrs. Richard Williams, Mrs. William E. Stewardson and Mrs. Sydney Harwood II.

Tickets for the tour will be available after May 1 at Hunkson's and the University Store, or by mail from Mrs. Robert A. Winters, 10 Adams Drive, Princeton, or in the houses on the day of the tour.

SCOUTS PLAN CLEAN-UP Where Picnickers Failed. On Saturday the Girl Scouts of Princeton will make a working observance of Environment Month, an organized clean-up of wildlife preserves and parts of Stony Brook in the flood plain area near the Friends Meeting House on Quaker Road.

From 10 to 1:30, the scouts and their families will fill nunny sacks with rubbish and debris, which has collected in the area. The project is to be carried out with the guidance of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, which will supply the sacks and haul away the day's pickings.

more remote historic areas are being cleaned, according to the Association. Following the clean-up at 1:30, the scouts will have lunch at the Friends Meeting House.

Transportation is being arranged by troop leaders, who should be advised in advance when a scout's family plans to attend. All workers should wear boots and gloves.

Committee for the project are William Starr, John Kuser, and R. Stockton Gaines for the Watersheds Association, and Mrs. Ann Westover, Mrs. Lany Heymann and Mrs. Carol Clevenger of the Princeton Neighborhood Girl Scouts.

VIEW FROM MISSISSIPPI

Charles Evers to Speak. The Honorable Charles Evers, mayor of Fayette, Mississippi, will deliver a public lecture in Princeton University's Alexander Hall Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Title of the talk will be "Reflections of a Black Mayor of a Southern Town."

Mr. Evers, 47, the first black to be elected mayor of any city or town in Mississippi, has long been a leader in the fight for equality for blacks in his home state. His brother, Medgar, also a civil rights leader, was slain in 1963.

As mayor of Fayette for almost a year, Mr. Evers has been concerned with attracting new industry to the town, and with improving medical and educational facilities. The Princeton lecture is being sponsored by Terrace Club, an undergraduate social and dining facility in cooperation with the Princeton Youth Center.

REP. THOMPSON TO SPEAK To Conclude Edge Lectures. Congressman Mark Thompson, Jr., member of Congress from New Jersey's 4th District since 1965, will speak an "Can We Have Confidence in the Political Process?" next Monday evening at 8 in the Auditorium of Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs.

JUDGES PUT ON TAPE
Recording for the Blind. The Princeton unit of Recording for the Blind, Inc., has tackled a massive 4-volume set of history books entitled, "The Justices of the United States Supreme Court, 1789-1969: Their Lives and Opinions."

At the nearby recording studio, 100 Stockton Street, volunteer readers who contribute 3 hours or more of their time per week are busy putting every word of the $12 book set tape.
The tape will be sent to the state Library for the Blind and Handicapped, in Trenton, which has experienced a great demand for these particular books. Blind law students, blind students in other disciplines, the New Jersey Historical Society, and chairman David Endler of the state commission on the Blind are all waiting for access to the materials.

The current project is typical of work performed on a shoestring budget of $20,000 per year by the Princeton unit of Recording for the Blind. With headquarters in New York, the company maintains 21 studio units coast-to-coast, to fill requests for recorded materials that will help blind persons lead productive lives.

Regularly working at the Princeton unit are a hundred volunteer readers, monitors, editors and office workers, and the studio keeps busy from 9 to 5 and 7 to 10, Monday through Thursday. On Fridays the studio operates from 9 to 1.

When a blind person requests a specific unit from the New York central office, a copy is sent to him free to use as long as he likes. If the item requested is not among the 12,000 titles on file, the company assigns the book to one of the local units for recording onto tape. A copy goes into the master file and a copy is lent to the person requesting it, again free of charge.

The Princeton unit is self-supported by personal contributions from this area. Anyone interested in assisting the vital work may visit the studios during working hours. Voice tests can be arranged by appointment.

TEXTURE
In PAA Show "Princeton in Texture," a show sponsored by the Princeton Art Association, is truly one of the most exciting shows at McCarter this year. It will be open through Sunday. Gino Dorio Cechini's contributions are especially exciting. His tactile imagination has made use of combining scrap materials, fabrics and paints to create images sometimes with humor and always with artistic merit. His "ed. White and Blue American Trifemph." is an imaginative three-dimension collage. The Adam and Eve style figures on either side of Eden's American Gothic style have a marvelous texture made up of modeling paste over mats and bolts — the symbolic nut and bolts that make America operate! The work is a subtle blending of natural found objects with mechanical scraps. His "Winking Stalking Look" is in a lighter whimsical mood. The slightly cross-eyed beast is placed beautifully in the composition which is made up of embroidery and applique. "Ashbury Park Look," another 3-d collage of artistic merit, captures in a naive and go beyond the patterned stylistic surface to find deeper implications.

Lore Lindenfeld's symmetrical woven wall hangings prove again her great skill and craftsmanship. Her "Purple Wall Hanging" is a careful combination of a plastic fiber with wool in the same color, the outcome relying on the design created by the dull-shiny pattern.
"Sand Painting" by Margaret Johnson has that "Klee-like" quality of sophisticated simplicity. The subtle solid colors are beautifully spaced to create slight tensions among linear hieroglyphs.
The original brightly colored weavings of Ruth Sharon are fine addition to the show. Her colorful mix of combining yarns and strings of all types with plastic discs, plus the open spaces of her weaving and compositions effects make her compositions most exciting.

The bark drawings of Jane Teller seem to me to justify the title of the show, "Princeton in Texture."

tion in Texture" "Bark drawing — Beech" is a delicate drawing of a magnolia view of the bark of a tree. The varied patterns are made by swirling lines and darks created by more and more lines, a most complex work. Her lovely sensitive renderings make the viewer aware of the fantastic textures which surround us here in our own environment.

Present Day Show At the Present Day Club this month is Princeton artist Edith M. Nassau. The display shows a wide variety of techniques and materials. As one enters the show the artist's hand is evident in the compositions which carry well from a distance strike the eye from the end of the room. Upon closer personal inspection No. 12 stands out because of its bold color combined with a fine line texture made up of parallel lines. The contrast enhances the composition.

Mrs. Kogan is at her best with bold color. The "Blue Table" is a brightly colored collage and acrylic work. The bold colors and acrylic space back ground areas of red create a simplicity which gives it strength.

The "Winter Landscape" in oil uses softer color with an emphasis on texture. The roughness of the textured fields against the dull orange brown bars is appealing. The small roughly executed "wonderland" "Landscape" is an attractive addition to the show.

M. "Artisan" The "Artisan Gallery" on Witherspoon Street has as its featured artists ceramic artist Nonnie Barnes and painter, Elise Taylor.

Nonnie Barnes is a Philadelphian, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, who studied in Mexico. She now lives and has her studio in Hopewell. Her work shows fine competent craftsmanship and a feel for form almost in a classical tradition. Her glazes are muted earth colors which serve to enhance the perfection of the forms she creates.

Presently working in New York City, Elise Taylor has her Bachelor of Fine Arts from Boston University. Much of her work is in a major key. Small renderings in a light gay hearted mood have a decorative motif. Her sensitive line compositions combined with watercolor wash are particularly charming.

More interesting from a serious standpoint are those works whose subject matter stems from "Woodstock." The artist, today, in the painting, "Woodstock," her use of dyes gives a transparent almost hallucinatory color to her work. From a distance the work appears as a conglomeration of color but a closer look shows a crowd of figures and gives the feeling of closeness and togetherness expressed by many who attended.

PAA Plans Art Show

The Princeton Art Association will hold a members' show, non-juried, May 10 through 21 at the Columbus Boychour School on Rosedale Road.
Junior and senior members are invited to bring their best painting, graphic work, collage, watercolor or drawing to the PAA offices at 14 Nassau Street. Hours are May 4, 5 and 6 from 9:00 to 11:30 or at the school on May 7 and 8 from 9 to 4.

Pictures must be wired and mounted for hanging and exhibitors must arrange to pick up their works May 22 at the school. Members and their families are invited to attend the opening, May 10 from 4 to 6. May wine will be served, and there will be a special performance by the Columbus Boychour at 4:30.

The public is invited to view the exhibition from May 11 to May 21, from 9 to 4.

GALLERY HAS NEW SHOW

Three Artists Represented.
The Peter Jones Art Gallery of Main Street, Flemington, is now exhibiting a new collection of works by three nationally-known artists: Hella Bailin, Eugene Gauss, and Riva Hella Gauss.
Mrs. Bailin works in oil, watercolor, pastel and graphics, and is an avid traveler and the spot painter. She has exhibited extensively in New Jersey and in travel shows throughout the U.S. and Europe. Her work is warm, memorable and mildly expressive in capturing local color.

Mr. Gauss is a well-known sculptor who has in his credit exhibits at most major galleries in the U.S. His portrait busts and public memorials are executed mainly in a subtractive technique, in marble or granite, though he works also in bronze and terra cotta. His drawings and composition are noteworthy. Miss Helfand has paintings and prints in numerous public and private collections. A colorist, she studied at the Art Students League and has developed an abstract style with a unique warm palette, in the cubistic idiom.

The Peter Jones Gallery is open to the public from 10 to 5:30 six days a week, and from 12 to 5 on Sundays.

SCHOOL GALLERY OPENS
Two Spring Exhibits Closed.
Columbus Boychour School has announced the opening of a gallery for the purpose of displaying group and one-man art shows during the spring and in subsequent school semesters.
According to A. Edward Battaglia, the school's headmaster, the public will be welcome at the Gallery Monday through Saturday during the afternoon hours of 1 to 5.
The first exhibition, now under way, is a membership show by the Garden State Watercolor Society. This will remain on display through May 2. Subsequently, the Princeton Art Association will have a members' show, from May 8 through 23.

The works will be exhibited in the art gallery and the dining room of the school, which is the former estate of Gerard B. Leimberg.

The committee for selection of art and exhibits includes, besides Mr. and Mrs. Battaglia, Mr. and Mrs. William Augustine, Mr. Robert E. McCreight, Mrs. Lucille Penn Stafford, Mrs. Dagmar Tribble, and Mrs. Marjorie C. Winterger.

SPORTS in Princeton

ACTION BECALMED. Only a few Race Here, Sports followers who believe that Saturday afternoons should be spent watching one or more athletic events have only one place to go Saturday. The undefeated Boibb crew will row Pennsylvania on Lake Carnegie, the varsity race at 3:15 clocking a program of four events, the first of which is scheduled for 2:30.

All other Princeton varsities will be on the road, and only the rollers are looking forward to maintaining the pace they have been setting. Dutch Schoch's team, which has won all seven of its matches, goes to Annapolis for a triangular meeting with Navy and Columbia.

Last weekend was a dismal one for most Princeton teams, particularly Tiger entries in the baseball and lacrosse races, both of which ran into serious trouble at Providence. Brown won both baseball games and topped the lacrosse team, 5 to 5, completely dominating the second half after the score was tied at the intermission, 2-1.

The Tigers will travel to Hanover Saturday to face a weak Dartmouth team, but are now 9-5 on the season and have at no time shown ability to score enough goals to become a threat in Ivy action. The battle for first place shapes up as a three-way fight among Brown, Yale and Cornell, with the Bruins very passively the best bet.

The track team, clearly out-matched by Harvard, lost by 46 points (97-57), as the Crimson dominated the running events. Steve Sauer, the football guard, scored a double when he took the shot and the discs, helping to losers dominate the field events with five victories out of a possible seven. The Penn Relays are on the schedule this weekend.

The tennis team took a step toward victory in the Eastern Association race with an 8-1 conquest of Army but was outclassed the following day by

North Carolina, 6 1/2 to 2 1/2. Coach John Conroy's racket squad will face Brown and Harvard away this weekend.

Crew Loses to Penn. For the sixth year in a row, a good Pennsylvanian crew led Princeton and Columbia across the finish line in the Chadds Ford. The Tigers have not won this trophy, oldest in college rowing, since 1865, and Penn now has a lead in the series of 32 victories to 18 for the Orange and Black and a dozen for Columbia.

The Quakers dominated the race, winning by two lengths, with Princeton the runner-up and the Lions third. A strong wind and the tide on the Schuylkill River helped the Quakers cover the 2,000-meter distance in an unusually fast 5:43.2.

This weekend, Princeton will row on the Charles River against Harvard and MIT, competing for the Compton Cup. It was 1957 when the Tigers last won this race, and Harvard is not likely to let the hardware get away from it on Saturday.

BASEBALL UPSET

In Doubleheader by Brown. Apparently equipped with strong hitting, a good defense and at least adequate pitching, Princeton's optimistic baseball team had its hopes for a high finish in the Eastern League severely jarred Saturday. The fact that twin losses to an unimpressive Brown team (by scores of 9-7 and 8-4) came on the heels of a 5-0 shutout of Yale made the setbacks all the harder to take.

Senior Bob Wolff, a dependable "junkie" until this season, and sophomore Blake Gall were the victims at Providence. Wolff, whose first two seasons on the varsity were marked by a number of noteworthy victories, including two over eastern power

St. John's, gave up six runs in him. Two hits and five walks in the two innings he worked and suited in six runs for the Bruins, who coasted the rest of the way.

The nightcap was even worse, ed 16 walks and hit a batsman as Gall got only two men out during the 12 innings of the abhorred Donavan removed brevitated twin bill. The losers outright the home team, but left 19 runners stranded in the two games.

It was a different story at New Haven, where the increasingly reliable Jack Hittson was his third when he blanked the Elis. Next day, the Bulldogs were good enough to take a doubleheader from Columbia.

A four-run first did the trick.

Tennis is new with Head

Winning Isn't.

We started to build our Master aluminum racket for the average player, but we thought top tournament players didn't like metal. Then we talked to Charles Posarell, top tournament player.

Start with the flex, he said. Other metal rackets are either too whippy or stiffer than a board. Somewhere in between is the right flex, he said; let's find it. We did.

Take out the twistiness, he said, so we shortened the metal part of the shaft and embedded it in a solid molded handle. The result: greater accuracy, even on off-center hits.

We cut down the "trompoling" feel by eliminating all the stringing rigs and grammets. The Master is strong conventionally, even more easily than a wood frame.

Now, Posarell said, get me a smooth flow of force through the racket. A metal throat wedge rigidly fastened to the frame interrupts the flow, and creates a stress point where most metal rackets break.

We come up with a nylon plastic string guide, held in place by the tension of the strings, firm enough to get the job done, but flexible enough to let the frame work independently.

When it was ready, Posarell began playtesting the Master in tournaments. He played into the Doubles Finals at Forest Hills. He played his way on to the Davis Cup Team. He said go with the racket as is.

But just in case, he may playtest it till he retires.

as the first four Princeton bats left all his safety and a cocked-up error by the EUs followed. Hutton scattered six hits and was never in danger of losing the first-inning lead.

Another Trip on Tap. The last league games Princeton must play away from home are scheduled this weekend, when the team meets Cornell at Ithaca Friday and then heads for West Point and a doubleheader against Army Saturday. With the pitching such a question-mark, only the strongest of hitting is likely to bail the Tigers out. Navy has a solid lead so far, but the middies have played all of their games at home and are unlikely to do as well in their remaining eight on the road. Dartmouth, with two good pitchers and a strong attack, is still a good bet to catch the midshipmen.

DOUG JAMES DUE BACK Will Join Football Staff. Doug James, an All-Ivy safetyman who doubled as a fullback on the Princeton football team which tied for the Ivy title in 1966, will return here next summer to join Jake McCandless' football coaching staff.

James will work as an assistant to Bruce Tarbox, newly-appointed freshman coach. In the spring, he will serve as an aide to Eddie Donovan, the varsity baseball coach.

UP FROM PLAYGROUND: George "Breezy" Becanuso who learned how to play ball in the Princeton summer playgrounds has graduated to starting second baseman for the PHS team. At 5-6, 132 he is the smallest player on the team. He is a sophomore.

James was a three letterman in football, serving in highly effective capacity as the deep man on the defensive platoon. In his junior year, a 56-yard punt return he executed provided the margin of victory in the Tigers' 14-12 win over Columbia.

He was sufficiently versatile so that Dick Coleman used him as the tailback on several occasions. Against Harvard as a senior, he threw a pass for a vital two-point conversion as the Tigers upset unbeaten Harvard, 18 to 14. The following week, his 31-yard end run set up Princeton's first TD in the 13-7 triumph over Yale in the Bowl.

James returns to his alma mater from the Williamson Free School of Trades in Media, Pa. While teaching English there, he has been head coach of baseball and cross country and an assistant coach in football.

IF YOU LIKE TOWN TOPICS, the best way to express your appreciation is to mention it to our advertisers.

PHS GETS 2nd CHANCE

Against Ewing Tuesday. The Princeton High School baseball team which had its bats silenced without a hit by Ewing last week will get a second crack at the Blue Devils when Ewing comes here Tuesday for a 4 p.m. contest.

First, the Little Tigers will be at Trenton High School on Thursday. For some reason, coach Harry Zoll's Blue and White has always more than held its own against Trenton on the diamond, and Zoll takes delight in his team's ability to torment the Termites. Game time is 3:45.

Last week, Ewing's Rich Poinsett set the visiting Little Tigers down without a hit. He fanned 11, getting rookie Mark Anderson three times and Walt Dimulick and Breezy Becanuso twice.

"You can't take it away from him," said Zoll. "He was a good pitcher. He had good stuff. He could put that ball where he wanted to. When you strike out 11 of the 21 men you face you don't need too much support."

Ewing scored twice in the second frame off starter Jed Haring. Haring, who pitched eight full innings in the cold three days earlier against Cathedral, obviously didn't have it and left after one and one-third innings. Don Crosby, a sophomore, pitched the next two and two-thirds innings, giving up four hits and three runs. Joe Demegilio hurled the last inning.

The three also gave up seven walks and Ewing converted every single one into a stolen base. That added up to 12 hits against PHS catchers in two games. The next day, Zoll had his catchers, John Hodges and Ray Richards practice throw downs. "That's too many," he said.

PHS came closest to scoring in the fifth when it loaded the bases with one down. The next two batters, however, fanned.

"It might sound peculiar to be beat 6-0 and say you were pleased but the team didn't look too bad in the field," Zoll commented. "I'm pleased with a lot of little things."

High on his list was the performance of Andy Onyiah on the mound. He pitched well for his first time out, Zoll reported, adding that he planned to start him in the next game.

Another plus has been the fielding. With the exception of centerfielder LouJohn Rossi, PHS has been guilty of only one error in its first two starts.

Cushman Ineligible. One thing that Zoll is not happy over is the loss of his starting third baseman John Cushman, a solid performer. Cushman was ruled ineligible by the NJSIAA because of his age.

The rule says any boy 19 by March 1 is too old. Cushman reached his 19th birthday in January. "I don't think it's fair," Zoll said. "I feel if a boy is eligible at the start of the school year in September, he should be eligible the whole year." He added there was some movement to get it changed.

Cushman will stay on to help Zoll as a coach. Mark Anderson was picked to take over at third.

290 FOR MARY HURLBURT Lease Pin First Frame, The Hurlburts began routinely for Mary Hurlburts of Pin First last week at the Hurlburts Lane.

Her first ball of her first frame left the seven pin standing. "It was a good hit, too," she said later. She converted the seven pin for a spare.

She followed with six strikes in a row. "I didn't get too concerned about it because I've had five or six in a row before," said Mrs. Hurlburts who has a 146 average after about 12 years of bowling.

The string of strikes continued.
"About the tenth frame it got very quiet in my end of the alley," she recalled, "and then everything began to change."

She struck out, rolling 11 strikes in a row for a 290-70 pins over her previous high. "I don't know if I could take any more of these," she said.

Mrs. Hurlburts will receive a medal from the Women's International Bowling Congress for bowling over 275 and a patch for bowling 100 pins over her average. She will be eligible for a medal from New Jersey State Women's Bowling Association for bowling over 265. Her 290 is one of the top 100 bowled in the Trenton Suburban Women's Bowling Association. Mary is a member of the Princeton Women's Bowling League.

An employee of Educational Testing Service, she lives at 4
Quaker Road, Princeton, New Jersey, moving to this area from Florida two years ago.

Overshadowed by Mrs. Hurlburts' 290 was a fine 215 game
by Pat Brown of Swift's Colonial Diner. Marilyn Silvester of Ros-sini's Cafe had 179.
Emma Lachy, a teammate of Mary's, rolled a 163 and together they led Pin First to the high team game and series of 946 and 2361.

In the standings among the eight teams, Rosini's continues to enjoy a wide margin, leading Rocky & Sons, 81-50. Pin First is third with 51 points, followed by Swift's Colonial Diner which has 32.

SUSQUEHANNA PICKED

By Hon's Mike Maguire, Mike Maguire, the only player ever to score more than 1,000 points in basketball at the Hun School, will continue his career at Susquehanna University in Selinsgrove, Pa.

After setting records in a Catholic Youth Organization
League while a student at St.
Paul's School, Maguire broke into the Hun varsity as a freshman. In four years he averaged 22 points and nine rebounds a game. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Maguire, 272 Nassau Street.

Maguire did not limit himself to the basketball court, where he received all-state prep school recognition for the past two years. In addition, he has played on the Hun football and basketball teams for the last three seasons.

With Maguire at quarterback, Hun has gone undefeated in football the past three years, compiling a 23-0 mark. He has captained both the football and basketball teams.

In baseball, he has been used by coach Dave Leete as an outfielder and pitcher.

Mike Maguire went the distance for Hun to even his record at 1-1. Leete reported that Maguire is doing a good job
picking up the slack for Hun's top starter, Ziegler, who came down with a sore arm after pitching in the opener. "We're just waiting until the arm gets better," said Leete.

It was a difficult story for Hun earlier in the week against visiting Pennington. Three hits were all Hun could muster as it dropped a 7-0 decision to the Red Raiders. "We had a bad day hitting," said Leete. Mike Rossi was charged with the loss.

Panthers responded with six runs and errorless ball for the first victory of the season. Academy of New Church was the victim, 6-0, last Friday.

In his seven-inning stint, Clag-horn fanned four and walked two, permitting only a scratch single in the fourth inning, when the Panthers had the infield in.

PDS got all it needed in the first inning, when Carl Jacobelli singled and rode home on a loud double by Terry Booth. It added two more in the third, with Claghorn singling one of the runs in, and three in the sixth, with Peter McCandless doubling the big blow, a two-run double.
Last Wednesday's contest with Friends Academy was rained out, and may or may not be rescheduled, depending on the league standings at the end of the season.

This week the team was in for some tougher competition.
After a scheduled contest against Pennington Prep away on Wednesday afternoon, PDS will travel to Perkiomen for a game Saturday.

HUN ROUTS GEORGE

For First League Win, The Hun School basketball team made its first Penn-Jersey League victory an impressive one Saturday when it outslugged George School at Newtown, Pa., 15-7.
George School is the defending league champion. Overall, Hun is 2-2.

Friday, coach Dave Leete's
Red and Black will be at Germantown Friends. Then on Wednesday the team will make the short trip to the Great Road to clash with rival Princeton Day School in a 3:30 contest. This Wednesday at 3, Hun was scheduled to entertain Friends Central.
All three are league games.

After spotting George School two runs in the first, Hun scored in the next five, including six in the fourth, to bury the home team under a 13-hit, 15-run assault. The home team helped dig its own grave by committing several errors.

Hun third baseman Mike Guadio led the attack with a triple and two singles, driving three runs. Catcher Mike Rossi lashed out two doubles and a single and drove in two runs.
Also stroking doubles for Hun were Jack Petrone, driving in a pair of runs; Pete Jones and Alan Chalfoux. Dick Embley, Rick Ziegler, Rossi, Jones and Chalfoux hit singles.

Mike Maguire went the distance for Hun to even his record at 1-1. Leete reported that Maguire is doing a good job
picking up the slack for Hun's
top starter, Ziegler, who came down with a sore arm after pitching in the opener. "We're just waiting until the arm gets better," said Leete.

It was a difficult story for Hun earlier in the week against visiting Pennington. Three hits
were all Hun could muster as it dropped a 7-0 decision to the Red Raiders. "We had a bad day hitting," said Leete. Mike Rossi
was charged with the loss.

Sports In Princeton

 next Arthur Gardner and George Savoy.

The qualifying round for the President's Cup is scheduled for Saturday. Sixteen two-man teams will begin 16-hole elimination play on Sunday.

PDS LOSES TWO

In Lacrosse, bad weather and injuries combined to aid in the downfall of the Princeton Day Lacrosse team last week, as it dropped a 5-1 decision to George School on Thursday, and lost 8-3 in a return match with Lawrenceville B team Friday.

Rain last Wednesday forced a one-day postponement of the George School game to Thursday. On the way to its victory the bigger George players gave PDS something of a physical beating as well. The winners built up a 4-0 lead before the Panthers got their lone tally in the second half from Tim Smith.

Coach Clint Watkins commented that the George defense came up to the middle to meet the UDS attack and PDS had trouble the whole game trying to get around them. He cited Dave Barak for a good job in the goal.

The following day, although no player was out of action, several were nursing bumps and bruises from the George game, and the Blue and White could not hang on to an early 3-2 lead. The Lacrosse came back in the second half to score three times, while the Panthers ran out of energy. Smith tallied twice and Deebis Young once.

Goalie Tom O'Connor, who suffered a broken wrist before the first game, is now out for the season.

The Panthers have an extended period to recover from their two defeats, not scheduled to play again until they meet Rutgers Prep on Wednesday, April 28.

EWING EASY WINNER
 Over PHS in Track, Three first places were all Princeton High School could point to last week as Ewing's track team ran away from the visiting Little Tigers, 95-31.

It was the second loss in a row for coach Larry Ivan's squad — both by the same lopsided score. "We're hurting; we're hurting," said Ivan afterwards.

Following the Penn Relays this weekend, PHS will try to find its self against Franklin which will be here Tuesday for a 3-45 meet. The Little Tigers were also scheduled to travel to New Brunswick this Wednesday for a dual meet with the Zbras.

IN TIME OF NEED: John Arboogast, Princeton senior, holds the "Backboard Award" given by MWH and the Princeton Relay Club to the member of the Tiger basketball team who "provided vital reserve strength when most needed." With him are E. Bergesen, Jr., Rotary Club program chairman, Herbert W. Heiler, president of the Nassau Broadcasting Co., and Coach Pete Carrisi.

Swimming firsts for PHS were Paul Riddell in the high hurdles, Chris Misiow in the shot and Joe Bokier in the mile. Blinster's 4:51 was nine seconds better than his previous effort. Riddell also placed second in the high jump to account for eight points.

Lawrence Parker had seconds in both the javelin and 220 for six points. Senior Scott Dougal was leading in the 440 until the last 40 yards he faded. He finished third. Tom Green took a third in the discus with a loss of 115-5.

Ewing swept the pole vault, broad jump and two mile. "When a team starts sweeping two or three events, you have a tough time winning," said Ivan. "We need to win more second and third places."

"We need to become stronger in the 220, 440 and two mile if we hope to be in future meets," he added. "We need depth and we don't have it. We're hurting."

LEADS VANISH

As PHS Sidelined Last Pair. In losing 5-1 and 6-2 to Pingry and Lawrenceville last week, Princeton High School lacrosse team followed a similar pattern: after taking early leads, it ran into a string of penalties, became demoralized and watch its advantage disappear.

The Little Tigers, currently 1-4, will find their mettle tested again Saturday they will oppose always tough Montclair at Community Park at 1:30, and then play host to Peckie Tuesday on the same field at 3:30.

This Wednesday afternoon, the team was scheduled to play new-comer Newton here at 3:45.

Against Pingry Friday, PHS started off well, taking a 1-0 lead on an unassisted goal by midget Phil Matthews. In addition, the team received a solid 18-save performance from sophomore goalie Nick Robinson.

There were, however, two large items on the debit side. Foremost, the team had to go without the service of two of its starting midfielders. Mike Tomlinson, who had scored four goals the previous week, was out attending college interviews, and co-captain Mark Russo, injured early, was sidelined the rest of the game.

To this were added 10 penalties which whittled against the Little Tigers to five for Pingry. Most of the goals against us were scored in a penalty situation," said assistant coach John Mazza.

Last Wednesday an rain-soaked Community Park, first-quarter goals by Mike Tomlinson (Tom Taggart assist) and Phil Nollner (Andy Kever assist) staked PHS to an early 2-0 lead. But again, penalties were the Little Tigers' undoing. After twice as many against Pingry, PHS was guilty of three times as many against Lawrenceville — nine time infractions to three.

One bright spot: PHS defenseman Dennis O'Brien held his matchup, an all-state attack player for the Lacrosse, scoreless.

After the varsity contest, Mazza reported that a "slowly-building" PHS jayvee squad "played an excellent game" before bowing to the Lawrenceville reserves 7-5.

Midfielder Kevin Smith scored twice for the losers. They added single tallies were Robert Mangon, John Cowley and Joe Polovina.

CENTURY CLUB SECOND

In Olympic Distance Race, Princeton area's Century Road Club of America broke racing team history second in the 17 of 17 Sunday in the classic Century Road Club Open 100 Kilometers (62.3 miles) team trial held on the Neuhahn course. Ten teams finished the race.

With just under three laps to go, the Century Club was leading when two riders crashed on a corner. Members of the team are John Allis, Harold Halsey, Doug Dole and Bob Phillips. His second-place time of two hours, 26 minutes, 36 seconds was one minute, 14 seconds behind the winner, Manhattan "A" team.

Seventeen teams from New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania entered the race, which was an official "Olympic Development Plan" by the Amateur Bicycle League of America.
